Weather

Hot and threatening thunderstorms. The maximum temperature yesterday was 98.7; and the minimum 75.0, the figures for the corresponding day last year being 90.2 and 72.4.

FRANCE NOT MENACING ANY, AVERS MILLERAND

Security Of Nation Is Only Aim Beside Keeping Peace

CLOUDS TO PASS

Japanese Seek To Keep China From Part In The Conference

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, July 25.—In the course of a speech at Havre in connection with the French naval week, President Millerand said that, in view of the Anglo-French collaboration in the war, it was impossible that the inevitable clouds through which they were passing should not soon be dissipated.

France, he added, menaced nobody. She only desired to insure her own security and to maintain the peace of the world in agreement with the Allies.

M. Guist'hau, Minister of Marine, referring to disarmament, contended that the French Navy could not be weakened beyond limits which might be defined by the following conditions:

(1) The maintenance of France's communications with French Africa in the Mediterranean;

(2) The assurance that France will have nothing to fear if the French fleet is opposed to the German fleet;

(3) Security in her colonies, and

(4) Ability to place forces worthy of France at the side of her great maritime allies.

NO PRELIMINARY

London, July 25.—The Times states it is now certain that there will be no preliminary conference, either in London or in Washington, but this does not preclude the possibility of informal consultations with a view to clearing the ground for the Washington disarmament conference.

"There is reason to believe," the Times continues, "that if the idea of such informal consultations is commendable to the other Governments that have been invited to Washington, the United States is willing to help its realisation. In that event London would be the natural venue, and the participation of the Dominions Premiers still in England would seem natural and desirable."

The Dominions Premiers met at Downing Street this morning. It is understood that they dealt with the question of the Washington conference.

YEN IS FAVORED

Dr. W. W. Yen, Minister of Foreign Affairs, is favored by President Hsu Shih-chang as the Chief Delegate to the Pacific Conference. The Chief Executive suggests that the number of troops in China be substantially reduced before China goes to the parley.

Propaganda has been started by M. Obata, the Japanese Minister to Peking, in the Japanese press, against China's participation in the Washington Conference unless the South unites with the North. When Obata returns to Peking next month, he will propose to the Diplomatic Corps the dispatch of a note to the Waichiaopu to urge internal peace, the Chinese press reports.

A Council of Elders in Japan favors Japan's participation at the conference under the following conditions:

1. No resolutions shall be passed which are in conflict with the terms of the Versailles Peace Treaty.
2. No resolutions shall be passed which are in conflict with the Lansing-Ishii Agreement.
3. No resolutions shall be passed which are injurious to the rights and privileges already secured by Japan.

A Bangkok telegram states that the King of Siam will himself participate at the coming conference.

TO DISCUSS CONFERENCE

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, July 24.—Business and social organisations of Peking have organised a special society which will offer opportunities to the citizens to discuss the coming Pacific conference.

The Chambers of Commerce and other bodies believe that the conference will be of more importance to China than to most of the other countries and the members believe that the public should know of the subjects that will be discussed there.

She Keeps Cool By 30-Knot Speed On Surf Board

Here is one way of getting all the breeze there is by roaming over the deep on a surf board drawn by a speed boat. Miss Lora Boyd MacTaggert, of Seattle, Washington, says it is a very easy way to keep cool. She thinks nothing of eating a meal while seated on a surf board going at the rate of thirty miles an hour.

GENERAL STRIKE IN B.A.T. PLANTS AFFECTS 4,000

Starts With Dismissal Of Men For Smoking; Demands Made

The strike at the B. A. T. Pootung plants, which began in the making department of one of the factories last week, has become general and between 3,000 and 4,000 workmen are now out and a list of demands has been made to the management.

The trouble started when a foreman discharged several men who were found smoking on the premises, in violation of the regulations under which they work. The discharge of the foreman was demanded by the workers and on the company's refusal the men walked out. The spread of the strike to other departments is said to be due both to the stoppage of work in the making department and to sympathy for the laborers in first branch affected.

In making their demands upon the management the workers are reported as making final negotiations contingent upon the company's unqualified acceptance of five conditions: that wages for the strike period be paid; that there shall be no ill-treatment of workers, that wages be paid for Saturday afternoons and Sundays, that wages be paid on festival days and holidays and that the workmen's representatives shall not be dismissed. If these stipulations are conceded, the laborers say, they will be prepared to negotiate on demands for a general salary increase, a program of periodic increases for the future and a provision for the dismissal of foremen who may ill-treat workmen.

No question of pay increase had been brought to the attention of the company previous to the strike, officials state, and the stand is taken that there is no problem to negotiate, as the men discharged were dismissed in accordance with the rules of the company and the latter will not discharge the foreman. Several strikers have been taken into custody by the Pootung police but there have been no disorders.

Grain Price Bill Repealed At Cost Of £19 Millions

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 25.—The House of Commons today passed, by 193 votes to 66, the third reading of the bill repealing the Agriculture Act, whereby guaranteed prices for agricultural commodities are abolished after this year's harvest.

In this connection a supplementary estimate for £19,000,000 has been presented. The bill also substitutes for the Wages Board a system of county conciliation councils, representing both employers and workers, whose decision regarding wages will have the force of law.

Fleming Held For Trial On One Charge Of Libel, Is Arrested On Another

Prominent Attorney Clashes With U. S. Commissioner At Preliminary Hearing When His Motion For Change Of Venue Is Denied

Following a preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner F. J. Schuhl yesterday Mr. William S. Fleming, senior member of the American law firm of Fleming, Davies and Bryan, was held for trial in the United States Court for China and shortly after the hearing he was arrested again on an additional charge of criminal libel that was filed on complaint of Mr. Manuel Concepcion, Assistant General Manager of the Philippine National Bank.

While the date of the trial in the United States Court for China of the charge on which Mr. Fleming was held yesterday has not definitely been fixed, it was understood yesterday that the case probably would be called tomorrow. Preliminary hearing of the second charge against Mr. Fleming, that made by Mr. Concepcion, probably will be set for tomorrow or Friday, Commissioner Schuhl said yesterday, after he had fixed bond in that case at $1,000, the same bail that was imposed in the first case.

The charge of libel on which Mr. Fleming was held yesterday grew out of a complaint made by Mr. Stirling Fessenden of the law firm of Fessenden and Holcomb and it is based upon statements which it is alleged Mr. Fleming made in a letter dated February 9 last and addressed to Mr. E. W. Wilson, General Manager of the Philippine National Bank. This letter was introduced in evidence at yesterday's hearing.

SECOND CHARGE

The complaint made by Mr. Concepcion in the later charge is based upon statements Mr. Fleming is alleged to have made in a letter addressed to Messrs. F. J. Schuhl and H. D. Rodger.

Every seat in the court room was occupied yesterday long before the charge against Mr. Fleming was called and the expectations of the throng were not disappointed, for after the hearing opened dramatic incidents followed in swift succession keeping the interest of those present on edge.

Mr. Fleming was accompanied by his partners, Messrs. J. B. Davies and R. T. Bryan and on the opposing side were Mr. H. D. Rodger, Acting U. S. District Attorney, Mr. Stirling Fessenden, complainant, and Mr. Concepcion, who proved to be the one witness in the case.

As the case was about to be called Mr. Fleming started to leave the room when Commissioner Schuhl called to him.

MAKES AFFIDAVIT

"Are you ready, Mr. Fleming?" the Commissioner asked. "Your case is about to be called." Mr. Fleming said he desired to visit the office of the Clerk of the Court to sign certain documents. When he went to the Clerk's office he presented a typewritten document, saying that he desired to make an affidavit. The nature of the document was not disclosed and after the oath had been administered Mr. Fleming returned to the court room with the document in his hand.

In the meantime Commissioner Schuhl addressed Mr. Bryan and asked him if he was appearing for Mr. Fleming to which Mr. Bryan replied saying that Mr. Fleming would conduct his own case. At a later stage in the proceedings Mr. Bryan's appearance in the case was recorded.

On his reappearance in Court Mr. Fleming presented the document he had in his hand to the Court and asserted that he desired to secure warrants for the arrest of seven men, including four officials of the Court.

"These matters, Mr. Fleming," said Commissioner Schuhl, "can have nothing to do with these proceedings."

"In the next place," Mr. Fleming said, "I file a petition and motion for change of venue in connection with this case and ask permission to argue it at this time."

Mr. Schuhl insisted that it was not the proper time for the presentation of the document and later declined emphatically to admit it as a portion of the record of the case.

DOCUMENT EXCLUDED

Incorporated in the document which Mr. Fleming had sworn to and later presented in court were a motion for a change of venue and detailed charges of various kinds against a number of officials and individuals. The charges in question date back to the embezzlement case that arose after the disappearance of Earl B. Rose from Shanghai. In view of the nature of the charges made and by reason of the fact that the document was not admitted by the Court into the record of the hearing its text cannot be reported.

"I can prove that under the law governing this court," Mr. Fleming declared to the Commissioner, "that you are absolutely disqualified to conduct this hearing." This statement was made after Commissioner Schuhl had declined to listen to argument on the motion for a change of venue.

"Take your seat, Mr. Fleming," was the Commissioner's reply. The Commissioner went on to say that the proceedings were being held only to determine whether or not the case should be carried over to the higher court. Commissioner Schuhl then proceeded to read the documents that had been handed to him and then stated that the motion for a change of venue was overruled.

Mr. Fleming.—I ask your Honor's permission to argue that motion.

Mr. Schuhl.—I have ruled on this motion. I want no further argument at all.

Mr. Rodger.—Is the reading of the information waived?

Mr. Schuhl.—Do you waive the reading of the information, Mr. Fleming?

Mr. Fleming.—I have nothing at all to say. I would like the record to show that the motion was over-ruled without argument.

Mr. Schuhl.—Yes: the record will show that.

Mr. N. E. Lurton then read the information.

Mr. Rodger.—You don't intend, Your Honor, to permit me to make an opening statement at this stage?

Mr. Schuhl.—That is not necessary. I would like to tell you

BRITISH STAND FIRM REGARDING SILESIAN FORCE

Supreme Council Will Meet August 4 Without Wait For Experts' Report

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, July 25.—The diplomatic correspondent of the Havas Agency understands that Great Britain has assented in principle to a meeting of the Supreme Council on August 4, and the previous examination of the Silesian problem by experts, provided the Council meets on the date fixed, irrespective of the result of the experts' labors.

The French and British views, the correspondent adds, are only divergent with regard to the despatch of reinforcements to Upper Silesia, to which Great Britain is still opposed.

London, July 25.—In the House of Commons today at question-time, Col. G. F. Stanley (Unionist) stated that the strength of the British troops in Upper Silesia was 4,400 and that the French had a larger and the Italians a smaller number.

GERMAN CONSUL FUNCTIONING IN SHANGHAI AGAIN

Dr. K. Schirmer In Charge Of Nation's Activities As Before War

The old German consulate which has been closed since China entered the Great War, was officially reopened yesterday, with Dr. K. Schirmer, the former consul, assuming charge.

The consulate building is as yet only partially ready for use, due to the extensive work required to clean and furnish the rooms again for consular affairs. Dr. Schirmer has not yet announced the personnel of his staff, nor has he any indication as to who will receive the official appointment of consul at Shanghai.

The opening of the consulate yesterday practically puts the status of the German subject and the German official back to where it was before the war with the exception that the old German Court, for the present, will not operate. German subjects will continue under the jurisdiction and protection of a special Chinese court.

ROSE WILL NOT RETURN HERE TO STAND TRIAL

Settlement With Complainant Firm To Free Accused Now Held On Bail

CONSULAR REGULATIONS

Proceedings Can Terminate If Amount Is Made Good By Accused

Earl B. Rose, former Shanghai attorney now in the United States, who was charged with embezzlement here, will probably not be brought to Shanghai for trial, as he has made an arrangement with the head office of Sonn Brothers and Company, the complainants, to make good the amount alleged to have been embezzled.

A warrant was issued here on March 11 for Rose's arrest as the result of information filed with the United States District Attorney's office by Manager James MacDonnell of the local office of Sonn Brothers and Company. The information charged that Rose embezzled shares par-valued at Taels 9,500.

Acting United States District Attorney H. D. Rodger said yesterday that a Consular regulation made it possible to terminate the proceedings started against Rose.

Mr. Rodger said: "Mr. Rose was arrested in the United States and released on heavy cash bail. Under the Consular regulations there is a provision which makes it possible for the proceedings already started to be terminated if the person who has embezzled money makes good to the amount embezzled. Mr. Rose has made an arrangement with the head office of Messrs. Sonn Brothers and Company in New York to their entire satisfaction.

"Mr. Rose is being held under heavy bail subject to trial or complete settlement with the complainant's head office, under the Consular regulation referred to."

It will be remembered that Rose left here on a small boat for Japan but a few hours prior to the issuance of the warrant for his arrest.

American authorities here attempted to have Rose arrested in Japan. He was placed under arrest in Seattle, when he arrived there on the Fushimi Maru, charged and released on bail. It is understood that Rose is now living in San Francisco.

SILVER STATE ARRIVES WITH MAIL FROM U.S.

Admiral Liner's First Voyage Made In 17 Days; Taiyo Due This Evening

The new steamer Silver State, of the Admiral Line, the second of the larger United States Shipping Board boats to enter the Seattle-Far Eastern run, arrived at the China Merchants Lower Wharf yesterday afternoon, 17 days from America. The vessel left Seattle July 9. It leaves today at 4 p.m. for Hongkong and Manila.

The Silver State brought to Shanghai eleven cabin passengers including Mr. Adolfo Carpi, the impressario of the Russian Grand Opera company who has been in Japan arranging a tour for his company; Mr. J. J. Gorman, general agent of the Admiral Line, and Mr. George J. McCarthy, passenger agent of the Admiral line, with Mrs. McCarthy; Mr. Duncan Joy, Mr. Grant Stephenson, Mrs. Ruth Stephenson, Miss Estelle Paddock, Messrs. Samuel W. Glass, Armstead Glass and Alfred Young.

Six hundred bags of mail were delivered to the American post-office from the Silver State's mail consignment. The post-office staff worked until late last night assorting the mail, and the consignment is ready for delivery this morning.

The steamer Taiyo Maru, formerly the German liner Capi Finisterre, which is now in the T.K.K. service, was reported out of Nagasaki yesterday at noon enroute Shanghai from San Francisco. The ship is due off Woosung this evening. Its tender with incoming passengers and mail is expected at the Customs Jetty at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

The tender for outgoing passengers on the Taiyo, to Hongkong and Manila will leave the Jetty at 10 a.m., tomorrow.

Chronos Is God Of Speed But Delays Caravan Chiefs

By Bruce Hopper

Chronos, the little god of the fleeting moment, is as two-faced as old Janus on the Capitoline. One face, [illegible] with straining after [illegible] goal; the other is placid and serene in age long repose. For time is worshipped in both the West and the East, with rites as opposite as two faces of a coin.

In no change of custom has the young and rebellious West drifted so far from the teachings of Mother East as in the worship of Chronos. In the one his slightest footstep is measured by the fifth-of-a-second tick of a stop watch, or the even faster beat of an electric meter. In the other the dull god still expresses his passage is terms of the fullness of the moon.

He who crosses the line overland from West to East must abandon all hope of gauging time and distance, for he is in the land of no clocks.

Behind him the aeroplane motor may be singing of a new era in space-defying machinery, a lightning express train may roar of recently acquired comforts in travel, but these he must forget.

If he does not shed his western wings he will inhabit that tomb of the man who attempted to hurry the East, and have the honor of an epitaph already prepared by Kipling.

INDECENT TO HURRY

His first tilt at arms with Chronos comes when he tries to hire a caravan. The chief mafoo is willing to go but must have several days to think about it, and talk it over. Besides it is indecent to name a price until the other little god of bargaining has been propitiated with the usual sparring back and forth.

If the traveller assents to extortion for the sake of getting on the price immediately takes flight to heights unmentionable. The mafoo does not want to get rich but, by the same reasoning, refuses to be hurried. The precious days drag by, and finally when the moon takes the good omen slant the caravan creeps away.

The road ahead is washed out, mules are tired, the brigands are active, the packs are too heavy, the mafoos must stop to buy opium, and what not else. The foreigner, unaccustomed to the sweet blessings of procrastination, storms and fumes, and wields the big stick, but the missiles turn like boomerangs and strike him dumb.

He is exhausted from the strain of futile persuasion, and has not hastened the space a fraction of a second.

E'EN WHILE BEARDS GROW

Coming to the military zones where the Yunnan troops are taking pot shots at the Szechuenese across the Yangtsze, or the Cheng Ching soldiery fighting Eastward against the Lolos, and Westward against the Thibetans and Imperial Manchu troops of the border, he finds all the mules have been requisitioned by the military chiefs. Here follows days of waiting, and hopes deferred which maketh the heart sick.

He must acquaint himself with all the formalities of provincial etiquette, and stand in line at the magistrate's office. Cards, tea functions, time consuming compliments, all the slow-footed technique of politeness as it is understood, are studs on the door to which there is no key save implicit observance of the ways of the country.

The moon passes from the quarter to the half, and often to full splendor, before the magistrate discovers he really has spare mules not needed for military transport. By that time the traveller is subdued, his beard has reached the dimensions of that of Rip Van Winkle, and he leaves the city of infinite repose a chastened and wiser man.

DOLLARS DO NOT EXCITE

But the greatest lesson is still in store. Perhaps he will want a boat for river work. To cart off the great wall is a minor feat compared with convincing an up-River wood carrier that his boat is marketable, and that the money would fetch him a better one. Every splinter must be examined, all the tribesmen from the caves and goatherds from the cliffs must confer upon the advisability of letting such a valuable public vehicle pass down through the treacherous rapids. And besides, has not the water god expressed his anger by sucking to death every one who has been swept into the whirlpools?

There are some places where the jingle of silver dollars fails to excite the natural avarice of men, and the upper reaches of the Yangtsze may claim an honored placed in such category.

And thus does the speed maniac learn to discard the clock. The only watches west of the Min river are carried by the foreigners who pass through, or by the missionaries. It is hard to become adjusted to a society where time is elaborately thrown away, where Manana is the vague reply to all queries of the road, and where the world continues to get older with a maddening, leisurely certitude.

The westerner eventually wears out his driving power and drops into the pace recognised as dignified and decent. So many magistrates have advised him to hold his horses, and keep his shirt on, that he is at length convinced that accumulation of the wisdom of the East was possible only by the phase of the moon, and not by the tick of the clock.

SKIRMISHES BEGUN; WU PEI-FU AIDS GEN'L. WANG

Fighting Has Started In Battle Of Tuchuns

TROOPS ON MOVE

Eighth Division Now Crossing Yangtsze On Way South

(CHINA PRESS STAFF WIRE)

Hankow, July 26.—Skirmishes have been fought in the district of Lou Kou Pu and other points today with light casualties on both sides. Serious fighting has not yet begun.

Hsiao Yao-nan, who is Wu Pei-fu's representative, arrived this morning with the Eighth Division to aid Tuchun Wang Chang-yuan. The Eighth Division is crossing to Wuchang for transfer to the front.

The Peking-Hankow and Wuchang-Changsha railways are busily moving troops Southwards.

Officials of Wuchang are moving their families and their belongings to the North, homeward.

TSAO KUN'S TASK

(Reuter's Service)

Peking, July 25.—Replying to a telegram from General Tsao Kun, General Chang Tso-lin says he trusts that General Tsao Kun will do all that is possible to maintain the position of General Wang Chan-yuan in Hupeh.

If he complies with this request, General Tsao must call on General Wu Pei-fu to assist General Wang against General Wu's close friend, the Tuchun of Hunan.

There is seen in this fact the possible cause of a crisis in the relations between Generals Tsao Kun and Wu Pei-fu.

TO AVOID CLASH

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hankow, July 25.—It is understood that General Chao Heng-ti, on being taken to task, has protested his inability to control the action of the Hunan troops, and contended that he was doing his best to avoid a conflict. He is reported to be making overtures for peace.

Northern troops are pouring into Hankow, and many are being sent on to the borders of Hupeh.

There is no news from Hunan, and no fighting has been reported up to the present.

The situation is serious, and it is thought that a storm-burst is highly probable. Doubts continue to exist as to the parts that will eventually be taken by the most prominent Generals.

There is still an absence of alarm at Hankow.

WANG MOVES ARMY

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 24.—General Wang Chen-yuan reports having sent troops to occupy Chowlitao and Sinti and having commandeered sixty trucks belonging to the Canton-Hankow Railway for the conveyance of Hupeh troops to the front. General Wang says that he has sufficient troops to deal with the Hunanese.

The telegram from Hankow, saying that General Wu Pei-fu was believed by the Chinese to be ready to assist the Hunanese, is considered significant owing to his close friendship with General Chao Heng-ti, Tuchun of Hunan, whose move against General Wang is believed to be a political measure intended to secure the appointment of General Wu as Tuchun of Hupeh.

The statement has been made frequently in Peking lately that the appointment of General Wu as Tuchun of Hupeh would remove the principal difficulties facing the Government in Central China, while propaganda apparently intended to off-set that plan has been circulated by opposing parties.

The Government, however, has shown great reticence regarding the probable outcome of the disturbed political situation on the Yangtze, and seems inclined to let General Wang fight his own battle.

General Chang Tso-lin also seems to have kept out of the strife, and while he is not a supporter of General Wu it is believed that he would be quite willing for General Wu to get an apointment that would take him out of the Northern Provinces.

Reports are current of disaffection among General Wang's troops, which, if true, will speedily have an influence on the situation.

CHAO'S ONLY FAULT

In response to the appeal of Tuchun Wang Chan-yuan of Hupeh, Tuchun Chang Tso-lin of Fengtien has asked Premier Chin to issue a declaration of war against Chao Heng-ti. The Premier, however, stated that it had been proved that Chao did not engineer the march against Wang and that his only fault was that he had been unable to control his forces properly and had allowed Kuomingtang leaders to take advantage of the situation.

A further announcement by Chao Heng-ti, which is being circulated among the provinces, points out that it is unnatural for Hunan to resort to arms against any other people while the province itself is engaged in a movement for self-government. He emphasised the fact that the march was instigated by Kuomingtang men without his knowledge and that he had already ordered the withdrawal of the vanguards.

The march of the Hunan troops against Hupeh has given impetus to the movement now on foot to oust the Hupeh Tuchun, Wang Chan-yuan. Hupeh residents have once more made the Tuchun responsible of all the chaos in the province. They are advocating the appointment of General Wu Pei-fu to be their provincial chief executive.

Local firms acting as agents for Hankow business houses were telegraphically instructed yesterday not to ship any goods up river on account of the threatened conflict.

CHIN BRINGS BRIGADE

General Chao Heng-ti, Commander-in-chief of the forces in Hunan, has declared that the attack on Hupeh was made without his knowledge and that his troops were influenced by former Kuomingtang men.

He says that he had ordered the soldiers to withdraw to their original posts and is sending Tang Yi-ping, his aide-de-camp, as his representative to negotiate with Tuchun Wang.

Chin Yun-ao, brother of the Premier, arrived in Hankow with his troops, a brigade strong on Monday. He was accompanied by Chang Fu-lan, commander of the 23rd division, and is making his headquarters in Liuchiamiao.

Honan reinforcements mobilised at Singyangchow on Monday and will start for the scene of activities today.

General Wu Pei-fu has announced that the two divisions under him are being mobilised and will start for Hupeh immediately. He will command one of the divisions, while General Siao Yao-nan will lead the other.

NEEDS QUICK WORK

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, July 24.—General Wang Chan-yuan is apparently convinced that he must do something constructive and do it quickly if he is to regain his prestige lost through the mutinies of Ichang and Wuchang and he is now working overtime on his plans for the reunification.

According to reports reaching foreign circles in Peking, the unification conference in Wuchang over which Wang is presiding has voted that the Southwestern provinces should offer their services as mediators between Kwangtung and Kwangsi and end the war that is now going on.

The conference is also said to have recommended that the southern provinces aside from those at war, give Hunan their support in its effort to disarm the Kwangtung forces which are now on Hunan soil. These forces circled to the west to attack the Kwangsi army and Hunan which has so far remained neutral wants to disarm the soldiers and send them home.

HIS CONDITIONS HARD

Another report from the conference is to the effect that Chao Heng-ti is willing to return to the Peking Government under certain conditions but that these conditions are too hard for Peking to meet. He was formerly allied with the South but about a year ago declared that Hunan would be neutral. He has asked the Peking Government to assume full responsibility for paying his forces in case he definitely swears allegiance to the North.

Wang is said to be enthusiastic now over his reunification program. Canton is in need of money and it is believed that if responsible delegates can get together, much may be accomplished.

HOLDS BIG CONFERENCE

(China Press Correspondence)

Hankow, July 23.—Owing to recent visits to this center of official representatives, as well as men of importance holding no official position, from the provinces of Kiangsi, Hunan, Kweichow, Kwangsi, Szechuen and Yunnan, the rumor has revived that a political and military combine may be formed with Hupeh province. At an initial meeting, it was decided to hold a Joint-Defence Conference of seven provinces in Wuchang to last about a month beginning with July 18. The scope of discussion and topics to be taken up will be confined to insuring safety in the seven provinces and effecting an early reunification of the country.

Secret conferences have been held at Wuchang in the yamen of General Wang Chan-yuan, and an understanding is reported to have been reached by General Wang with the various provinces individually and severally. Regarding the minutes of the results there has been no authentic report, but a joint-defence committee has been named consisting of leading military officials of Hupeh and with headquarters in the Wuchang yamen.

According to press reports in Hankow, the following are the possible trends likely to approximate the truth: Kiangsi is trying to secure help in view of the endangered position of that province following the opening of hostilities between Kwangtung and Kwangsi. The Kiangs, Tuchun, General Chen Kwang-yuan naturally believes such help must come from his nearest neighbor, Tuchun Wang of Hupeh.

MUTINIES END FRIENDSHIP

Hunan's friendship for Tuchun Wang was broken for a while after the mutinies at Ichang and Wuchang, when the Commander-in-Chief of Hunan, General Chao Heng-ti, was urged by Hupeh people to attack Tuchun Wang. But the latter's diplomacy saved him from trouble. He sent General Chao of Hunan liberal gifts in silver and munitions. This at once killed the flame of the threatened attack from Hunan. Afterwards General Hsiung Ke-wu, formerly of Szechuen, acted as mediator between Wang and Chao. The whole transaction means an exchange of Wang's resources with Chao's nominal submission to Wang's ambitions which has led Hunan to participate in the Wuchang conference.

Kweichow is now under the administration of Lu Tou. Its former Tuchun, General Liu Hsien-tse has been visiting here for about a week spending most of his time with General Wang. Liu's movements are of vital importance to politics in Kweichow, which seems willing to join its lot with that of the Hupeh Tuchun.

Kwangsi being in a precarious position at the present struggle with Kwangtung, its fate has caused much speculation among other central provinces, for whose future it swings the pendulum. Its victory means the preservation of the present balance of power, while its collapse will affect the lot of many. Its representative, Mr. Lin Hu, revolutionary hero of 1911, has been here for some days evoking Tuchun Wang Chan-yuan's help in munitions and supplies.

LIU FOR SELF-GOVERNMENT

Liu Hsiang is now a power in Szechuen. He is working hard on a provincial self-government constitution, and is being fairly successful in that direction. Szechuen's participation is caused by the unstable position of Liu's administration. Liu seems to depend upon General Wang for defence work on the upper Yangtze gorges, where lawlessness and brigandage must be stamped.

Yunnan affairs are in the hands of General Ku Ping-tsen, the successor of former Tuchun Tang Chi-yao. Hearing that Tang is getting in touch with Dr. Sun Yat-sen, Ku fears his opponent Tang is seeking revenge. Therefore he is turning to General Wang Chan-yuan for union that Dr. Sun may not get hold of Kwangsi, in the event of which Yunnan will come vis-a-vis with an entirely new situation.

Thus while holding conferences apparently for defence measures, none of the participating provinces has any sincerity in submitting itself to any power; they are working only to maintain their present status of power. Of course, General Wang Chan-yuan is taking advantage of this occasion to seize as much power and strength as his resources and pocket permit. Anything he can get to advance his prestige and dignity will mean much to him as he has been aspiring for a long time to become a power in the Yangtze Valley.

Recently a representative of Marshal Chang Tso-lin visited General Wang with a request from Chang for new supplies of ammunitions from the Hanyang Arsenal, which Chang says will be used for the Mongolian expedition. This request was gladly complied with, for Chang is said to have promised Wang support in his ambitious plans.

'Pay,' Says Admiral 'You Are Fired,' Is Answer Of Peking

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, July 24.—Demands of Admiral Lan Chien-chu that the men serving in the navy be paid at once in order to keep the force loyal and efficient have been met with removal from office at the request of the Ministry of the Navy.

There have been rumors for some time that the men in the navy might mutiny if they were not paid and the Admiral who is Commander-in-Chief of the naval forces has tried to get the government to pay the men. He has met with opposition from the Ministry, it is said, and the result is that a mandate has been issued calling him to Peking where he will be made a member of the general staff, providing he accepts.

There has been considerable criticism of this move and the charge has been made that the Government cannot long continue to remove men because they think sailors or soldiers or other government employes should receive their pay.

Some doubt was expressed as to whether the Admiral would accept the new post. It was also said that the Ministry of the Navy might be just as well pleased if he declined.

2,000 MEN IN ICHANG

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Ichang, July 21 (by mail.)—Following the recent arrival at Ichang of two battalions of the Hupeh 3rd Mixed Brigade, two more battalions of the same brigade, under Brigadier General Lu Chin-shan arrived in the China Merchants steamer Kweilee a few days ago. If the battalions are up to strength this makes 2,000 men in the city at present. It is reported that half of these will be kept here as a "permanent guard," while the other half will be sent to Patung, a small town near the Szechuen border.

'La Tosca' Beautiful; 'Rigoletto' Thursday

"La Tosca" with its beautiful music and stirring dramatic action was given for the first time by the Russian Opera company at the Lyceum theater last night.

Most gloomy of Puccini's operas it is also his most intense, and beautifully sad. Rome of the year 1800 was a scene of great crises in political and private life. The background of agitation and unrest is brought out in La Tosca.

The laurels of the evening went to Mr. Busanovsky for his rendering of the famous aria, "The Stars Were Shining," in the last act. He is condemned to die, and has an hour to write to Tosca. He is overcome by memories of the past, and pours out a flood of feeling in tribute to her. The audience applauded and cried "Bis, Bis" until he gave an encore.

Miss Mashir appeared for the first time as Floria Tosca, and gave the part all the sweet lyricism which is hers. Her gown and cloak in the second act was a magnificent success of a local costumer. The scene in which she stabbed Scarpia was the most effective of the performance. Miss Mashir's voice blended well with the tenor's in the love duet at the end, when they sing of the bitterness of death, but believe the shooting is to be a mock affair.

The love element in "La Tosca" is one of the tenderest in all opera. The two artists who portrayed it to Shanghai last night are to be commended for their dramatic interpretation and sympathetic singing.

On Thursday night the Russian Opera company will present "Rigoletto," and on Saturday the "Tales of Hoffman." There will probably be two performances next week, after which the company will go to Japan for a six weeks' engagement.

Firemen Almost Sink Big Liner To Put Out Blaze

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 25.—The promptest measures, including a staging slung on the ship's side from which firemen played their hoses through the portholes, saved the Cunard liner Mauretania from probable destruction through fire at Southampton today. The vessel was due to sail for New York on Saturday.

The fire broke out in the saloon and rapidly involved three decks, which burnt furiously for several hours. The crew, dockyard workers and firemen poured in an immense amount of water, which caused an ominous list, necessitating the stoppage of operations for a time so as to pump the water out.

It is understood that the damage was extensive.

Where Is Turk Base When Only 50,000 Oppose The Greeks

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, July 25.—According to the Turkish Information Bureau in Paris, the strength of the Turkish forces actually in contact with the Greeks is only 50,000. Where the remainder of the army is concentrated is not known.

New Hong List Out

The mid-year supplement to the North China Hong List for 1921, published by the North China Daily News and Herald, Ltd., is now off the press bringing the list of local hongs and foreign residents strictly up to date. The supplement also contains the various calendars, lists of holidays and festival days and the Shanghai "Who's Who."

Mixed Court Jottings

When a man, charged by a Wusieh resident with having abducted his wife and brought her to Shanghai was sentenced to one year's imprisonment yesterday, the woman leaned over the witness box and cried out to the court that she had come willingly to Shanghai and that she would rather die than accompany the complainant back to Wusieh. If she did so, she declared, the complainant, who was not her husband, would sell her. The Magistrate ordered her placed in the dock and warned her that unless she complied with the orders of the court she would be imprisoned. She reiterated her refusal to go with the complainant to Wusieh and the Court sentenced her to two months' imprisonment.

Keepers of opium dens at 1313 East Seward Road and 5 Baikal Road, each of whom had been twice previously charged, were sentenced to three months' imprisonment yesterday.

A cook and a houseboy who recently left the employ of Mr. P. Isherwood, 5 Whashing Road, together with $3 and a quantity of silk belonging to their employer, and who subsequently aggravated the offense by calling up the house at inconvenient hours and giggling at the householder over the telephone, were sentenced to two weeks' imprisonment each.

Zung Sih-tsang, found wandering about the foreign quarters at Louza police station and questioned thereanent said that he had come to see his friend Li Foh and proffered as further evidence of his right to be there a badge such as is given coolies employed by the Municipality. Nobody knew Li Foh and the barracks sergeant had suspicions and searched the visitor, producing a sheaf of pawn tickets which were subsequently found to relate to articles reported stolen—including an axe which had disappeared from the station. Zung had nothing to say for publication when brought to court yesterday and won't have for a year.

Canton Repudiates Sino-German Treaty

A Canton telegram received here last night stated that the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in South China has declared that the new Commercial Treaty signed between Peking and the German representative would not be binding on official bureaus in the South.

JAPANESE STATEMENT

(Dalta News Agency)

Peking, July 25.—Mr. Mazusima, head of the Japanese diplomatic mission to Siberia, made the following statement to a correspondent of the Osaka Manichi:

"Japan must follow England, who has virtually recognised Soviet Russia. It seems probable that we shall negotiate with the Far Eastern Republic, which is really democratic and which is the only power in Siberia.

"Besides commercial matters, the negotiations must cover other questions relating to the evacuation of the Japanese expeditionary forces."

Small Fire Occurs In Whiteaway Bldg.

Fire on the third floor of the Whiteaway, Laidlaw building, Nanking and Szechuen Roads brought a central division of the Fire Department hurrying to the scene shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. On arrival a switchboard in the premises of the Engineers' Institute was found ablaze, evidently as a result of a short circuit. Occupants had already checked the headway of the blaze and the brigade men, by ripping down the plaster of the ceiling, to which the flames had spread, and using chemicals finished the work. Little damage was done.

The brigade answered a call to the steamer Broad Arrow, lying at the Standard Oil wharf, Pootung shortly before noon yesterday, but found that a fire between decks had already been extinguished by the crew.

Fleming Held For Trial And Is Again Arrested

and Mr. Rodger at the same time, that I am not here to try this case, but only to determine whether it shall be held over to the higher court.

WITNESS CALLED

Mr. Manuel Concepcion was then called by the prosecution and testified as follows under direct examination by Mr. Rodger.

Q—What is your name—full name?

A—Manuel Concepcion.

Q—Your nationality?

A—Filipino.

Q—Your age?

A—Twenty-eight.

Q—Are you married?

A—No, sir.

Q—What is your position?

A—Assistant General Manager, Philippine National Bank.

Q—Now, Mr. Concepcion, you came up to Shanghai some time ago with regard to some matters relating to your bank?

A—Yes, sir.

Q—When did you arrive here first—on the first trip?

A—On February 10.

Q—And when you arrived did you see Mr. Fleming?

A—Yes, sir; I saw him on the Jetty.

Q—You saw him on the Jetty? From the Jetty where did you go?

A—We went first to the Astor Hotel, but Mr. Fleming made an appointment to see him at his office at two o'clock.

Q—Did you see him at his office at two o'clock.

A—Yes, sir; I went to his office.

Q—When you were at his office, did he give you anything?

A—Yes, Sir; after giving me an account of all that he has done, he turned over all the papers that he had in connection with the Philippine Bank case.

Q—Now, Mr. Concepcion, handing you this exhibit, I ask if you have ever seen that before, and what it is?

A—He is the General Manager of the Philippine National Bank.

Q—And is that the copy that Mr. Fleming gave you that day.

A—No, sir; this is a copy of the copy he handed to me.

Q—That is a copy of the copy that he handed you?

A—Yes, sir.

Q—Where is the original letter?

Q—Where?

A—At the bank, in Manila.

Mr. Schuhl.—Why isn't it here?

Mr. Rodger.—It isn't necessary to produce the original, as decided in U. S. Supreme Court Reports, page 302: Now, I will read a paragraph from this letter.

BRYAN APPEARS

Mr. Bryan.—We wish to object to the reading until it appears.

Mr. Schuhl.—I understand, Mr. Bryan, that you were not to appear in this case.

Mr. Bryan.—I offer myself now.

Mr. Schuhl.—Mr. Fleming will have to offer that appearance for you then.

Mr. Fleming.—I offer Mr. Bryan now.

Mr. Rodger.—I now offer the Government's Exhibit "A".

Mr. Bryan.—We object to this exhibit on the following grounds: First, that it is a privileged communication between attorney and client; second, that it is a copy and not an original; third, the paragraph cited by counsel does not apply in a criminal case.

Mr. Rodger.—In reply I will say that that is not a privileged communication. This has nothing to do with the business transacted between Mr. Fleming and E. W. Wilson as client and attorney, and this has nothing to do with a privileged communication.

Mr. Schuhl.—Do you contend that this is relevant?

Mr. Bryan.—It is relevant because the firm of Fessenden and Holcomb interfered in this matter, and tried to steal the business of the Philippine National Bank from the firm of Fleming, Davies and Bryan.

Mr. Rodger.—I object to that statement.

Mr. Schuhl.—All these outside statements will have nothing to do with this case. These statements of yours will not in any way influence this matter.

Mr. Bryan.—I contend that it is a privileged communication. I wish it noted that the court has overruled a motion for change of venue without permitting argument.

Mr. Rodger.—I have a decision, anticipating this objection. This, as I said, is United States Supreme Court Reports, the highest court in the land in our country, and it says: (Reading same.)

Mr. Schuhl.—That is my understanding. If a person is living outside of the state it is permissible to introduce a copy.

Mr. Rodger.—I offer in evidence Government's Exhibit "A."

PRESENTS OBJECTION

Mr. Bryan.—I object to the introduction of that document, on the ground that it is a privileged communication between attorney and client. I further object on the ground that this libel was published in Manila and not in Shanghai, and that this court has no jurisdiction.

Mr. Schuhl.—Libel is committed when the letter is posted, and you know that.

Mr. Rodger.—When the letter was written and was posted it was published. (Mr. Rodger here read the portion of Exhibit A contained in the information.)

Mr. Bryan.—I will ask that the whole letter be read if the letter is going in.

Mr. Rodger.—The letter is in evidence.

Q.—I ask you, Mr. Concepcion, if that phrase was included in the letter that was sent to Manila?

A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—To your own knowledge?

A.—Yes, sir.

The defendant declined to cross-examine the witness.

Mr. Bryan.—I might say that we don't admit that the Court has jurisdiction.

Mr. Schuhl.—You have said that twice before. There is no necessity of repetition.

Mr. Rodger.—That closes our case.

Mr. Bryan.—If the Court please, we wish to ask again that we be heard on the question of jurisdiction.

Mr. Schuhl.—You have been heard on that. I have ruled on that and I do not desire to hear any more argument on that point.

Mr. Bryan.—Does the Court refuse to permit us to argue that point at all?

Mr. Schuhl.—It does.

Mr. Bryan.—We haven't had a chance to cite one decision, to read one statute or to make any remarks at all.

Mr. Schuhl.—If you continue with that statement you will be fined for contempt of Court.

Mr. Bryan.—I will therefore take my seat in the fear of a fine for contempt of Court.

Mr. Schuhl.—Have you any witnesses that you desire to introduce?

Mr. Bryan.—No; we don't care to produce any witnesses.

Mr. Schuhl's ruling was as follows:

It appearing to the satisfaction of the Court that the crime of libel has been committed by one William S. Fleming, it is hereby ordered that said William S. Fleming be held for trial before the United States Court for China. Pending said action, bail will be fixed in the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) as before.

THE LETTER

The full text of the letter alleged to have been written by Mr. Fleming to Mr. Wilson which was introduced in the hearing is as follows:

February 9, 1921.

Philippine National Bank,
Manila, P. I.

Dear Sir.—Mr. Concepcion and party are expected tomorrow morning at about 10 o'clock and I will be down at the jetty with Mr. McLure to meet them.

I have arranged to give them practically all of my time tomorrow, and the next two days, if they wish it. I have no doubt that they will at once thoroughly understand the matter, so far as the principal features are concerned and will be able to advise you accordingly. There are other matters, of course, that will require their attention, such as the personal conduct of the manager and other persons in the Bank. I am satisfied that Reyes is involved at least to the extent that he knew what was taking place and did nothing to inform the head office, or to stop it. Whether or not he was in conspiracy with Miller and Gubbay to the extent of sharing in the profits, I do not know, but doubtless that can be developed with the assistance of Mr. Concepcion and those who came with him. I have not gone into the matter thoroughly myself, because I thought that you would prefer to have these features conducted by Mr. Concepcion, so Mr. McLure and myself have devoted ourselves very largely to the larger questions involved in order to take care of the present situation, and provide for the future.

It will interest you to know that the broker, Gubbay, has been before a special committee appointed by the Bankers' Association to investigate his conduct. It appears likely that they will refuse to recognise him longer as an exchange broker, and that he will be expelled from the Exchange Brokers' Association. Whether or not a criminal charge can be brought against him, as well as against Miller, is still an open matter, but I believe that if you wish to do it, can be worked out under the law of conspiracy. Your lawyers will tell you that there can be conspiracy to commit a fraud, even if the fraud itself is not criminal, and two or more have conspired to do it, they may be charged under the law of conspiracy. This, in my opinion, offers the greatest hope of disposing of those who were involved by a criminal prosecution, if, as a result of the investigation, you should elect to do so.

It has come to my knowledge that one C. P. Holcomb, who is the U. S. District Attorney here, but who has shown in many ways his unfitness for the position, has been in conference with Miller from time to time, and has apparently been making statements calculated to support Miller's position, in an evident attempt to discredit what McLure and I have done for you. As I previously advised you, I forced Miller to retract by a telegram which he sent to you, a previous statement which he had made also by telegram to you, viz: that the policy of McLure and myself in laying your position before a meeting of bankers was a mistake, and that it need not have been done. I find now that Holcomb, who is a member of the firm of Fessenden, Rose & Holcomb, has been repeating the opinions of Miller, and advancing them as opinions from himself.

"I have had the head of his firm, Mr. Fessenden, in my office, and told him that if Holcomb did not take steps to undo what he did in this matter and make a complete retraction of what he had said, I would take him into court and compel him to do it there. I also called his attention to the activities of a young man named Hartigan, also employed in their office, who intimated to Miller a day or two before I discharged him, that his firm, meaning Fessenden, Rose & Holcomb, would be at the services of the Bank if they required it, and he apparently has been active along the same lines as Holcomb in this matter. It is perfectly clear that members of this firm, evidently jealous of the fact that my firm have been engaged as counsel for the Bank, and intending in some way to discredit us, have leagued themselves with Miller and attempted in various ways to carry out their intent. Mr. Fessenden has been compelled to admit that this was absolutely wrong, that the position of myself and McLure in the matter was absolutely correct, and he also stated to me that he had told both Holcomb and Hartigan that they should not say what they had been saying; that he knew me as a lawyer with long experience and sound judgment, and that they should take it for granted that anything I did with regard to the Philippine Bank matter had been done advisedly and correctly. I am led to believe, however, that young Hartigan, or someone acting by or through him or Holcomb, has been in correspondence with parties in Manila in this matter, and that possibly representations had been made to you

You have only to write, independently of me, to the manager of any one of your creditor banks here, to your auditor, or to any one else, with any knowledge of this situation, to satisfy yourself not only as to my standing in this community, but also as to the knowledge and talent I have displayed in connection with your affairs. Further than that, the record that you have before you and that you will get from Mr. Concepcion and his associates after an examination into affairs here, will satisfy that you have been well represented. I do not like to say these things in my own behalf, but the world is full of rogues and people jealous of the success of others. This is one of the many things which have been done, during my practice of law in Shanghai, to damage my prestige, but in spite of them I have grown steadily, and Mr. Fessenden admitted yesterday in my office that my own practice was larger than his. It is a fact that many of his old and valued clients have asked me to represent them now, and this could not be so unless our standing and credit in this community were good. I have previously told you that out of the seven American Banks here, we are legal advisers for six, and this in itself is a sufficient guarantee of our professional career in Shanghai and our standing among people whose confidence one would want to have.

You have personal friends here at Shanghai, among them being Mr. Marshall and Mr. Brett of the International Banking Corporation, and Mr. Weusthoff of the Asia Bank, and you are at liberty to communicate with them at any time and ask their opinion. You may also ask the opinion of Mr. Scott, Chairman of the Bankers' Association and manager of the Chartered Bank, Mr. Stitt manager of the Hongkong & Shanghai Bank, or any one of the managers of the seventeen Banks concerned in your affairs. I can assure you that they will not only speak in the highest terms of what Mr. McLure and myself have done for you, but will also speak in absolutely similar terms of the standing of both of us in this community.

I have a long story to tell you some day as to the reasons why these unfair methods have been introduced by members of the firm of Fessenden, Rose and Holcomb, and I can tell you in confidence now, that since they have done these things, I have come into the possession of evidence that not only will discredit them, but will absolutely ruin their names in this community. They realise this now, and are trying to make a complete retraction of what they have said and done in this matter.

As I told Mr. Fessenden in my conversation with him yesterday, it was a serious enough strain on me to work night and day in an effort to protect your interests here, to remain in my office as I have done, until 2:30 in the morning, pacing the floor, analysing the situation, and working out telegrams of the most urgent importance to you, without having to fight off in addition such unfair methods of attack as members of his firm have resorted to, and that if he did not put the matter straight at once, I would see that it was done, and discredit not only Holcomb and Hartigan, but his whole firm as well. Fessenden said he would straighten it out at once, and that he would give me his own assurance that neither he nor any member of his firm would interfere in this matter again.

I sent you a telegram on the 7th instant as per copy enclosed. I trust that you will understand that in sending it to you I did not intend to be officious in the least, nor did I suppose that you did not realise the necessity of preparation for the 1st of March as I do. Only I knew that Mr. Concepcion's arrival, heretofore expected on the 7th had been delayed, and that he would not get here until the 10th. Time is passing rapidly, and as you have all the essential facts before you, necessary to make your future arrangements, I felt that you and your associates should not await Mr. Concepcion's report before laying the foundation of your plans. It is so absolutely necessary that some arrangements, satisfactory to the bankers, be made prior to the 1st of March, that we cannot delay one moment. Therefore, please understand that this cablegram was inspired from no other motive than your best interests, and was not intended in disparagement of the efforts that might be made on your behalf by Mr. Concepcion or any of his associates after their arrival.

It is an unfortunate thing that the mail between here and Manila has been so unfrequent of late, and so long delayed, but this we cannot help, of course. I have tried to cover every important matter by cablegram and to make the cablegrams as clear as if a letter had been written. You will be surprised to hear that in spite of the fact that my first telegram to you was dispatched, I believe, on the 21st of last month, I have not had a single line from Manila, except a confirmation of one of your early telegrams. How that got here in advance of letters which I know you must have written and several letters are either now on the boat which brings Mr. Concepcion, or are otherwise enroute. While Manila is only about four days distant from Shanghai by direct sailing, I have had to wait 20 days or more without receiving a line from you, other than the telegram above mentioned, and with that no letter was enclosed. This, of course, is not our fault. It does seem that the Fates have been against us in this matter, at least to this extent, although fortunately the cable has been working.

You can trust me to do everything possible in order to put Mr. Concepcion and his associates in full possession of the facts, as far as I know them, and my opinions as to what should be done. I am quite content to let them take the matter up where I may leave it, on the date of their arrival, and to let them follow it further. Mr. McLure and myself have done everything that possibly could be done to conserve your interests here up to now, and in my opinion the consummation of the rest will have to be with you in Manila or at Washington, D. C. I hope that it will work out for the best. As I have told you in my telegram, I believe the bankers can be induced to grant a further extension of time if their confidence can be kept, either by furnishing part security or by satisfying them that you will have the ability to perform your contracts. If this is not done, you will be in another crisis on the 1st of March, from which it will probably be as difficult to extricate you as it was on the 1st of February. It is my sincerest wish that this situation will not arise, because as an American citizen, and one deeply interested in the prestige of American finance and trade in China and in preserving our good name with the Chinese people, as well as with the foreigners trading here, I should feel greatly distressed, irrespective of any other present considerations, if the efforts we have made, working together both here and in Manila, should not bear fruit.

With kindest regards, I remain,

Yours sincerely,

W. S. Fleming

The full text of the second information filed against Mr. Fleming by Mr. Concepcion and on which preliminary hearing is yet to be held is as follows:

In the United States Court for China, Honorable Charles S. Lobingier, Judge of said Court, presiding at a session at Shanghai, China, being held on the date hereof.

H. D. Rodger, Esq., Special Assistant District Attorney for the United States for said Court, who for the United States in its behalf prosecutes, comes herein into said Court on the 26th day of July, 1921, in his own person and for the United States gives the said Court to understand and be informed that one W. S. Fleming, an American citizen on the 20th day of July, 1921, in the City of Shanghai, Republic of China and within the Jurisdiction of this Honorable Court, wilfully, maliciously and unlawfully contriving to injure, aggrieve, vilify, scandalise and defame the good name, fame and reputation of one Manuel S. Concepcion, and intending as much as in him lay to bring the said Manuel S. Concepcion into contempt, hatred, infamy and disgrace, did compose, write and publish in a certain communication dated the 20th day of July, 1921 addressed to F. J. Schuhl and H. D. Rodger which said communication was on the said 20th day of July, 1921 at Shanghai, China handed to the said F. J. Schuhl and H. D. Rodger by the said W. S. Fleming and intending as much as in him lay to bring the said Manuel S. Concepcion into contempt, hatred, infamy and disgrace in which said malicious, false and scandalous libel is contained certain false, scandalous and malicious words according to the tenor and effect following, that is to say:

"Before entering upon any discussion of the different allegations that have been made by Mr. Concepcion, I wish to call your attention to the fact that this man is a Filipino, twenty-three years of age, with little experience in business and certainly not one who should have been entrusted with the management in Shanghai of an affair of such serious importance as the disaster with which the Philippine National Bank was faced in January and February last, and from which it has not yet extricated itself. If you are not already informed you can readily learn that the probable losses which this bank would have sustained, had it been compelled by its creditors to liquidate its exchange contracts falling due before the end of June, this year, would have been between seven and ten million taels; and yet a young Filipino, with limited banking and business experience, was sent to Shanghai as the head of a commission to inquire into and adjust one of the most serious and critical affairs in which any bank could have been involved. The character of this man became apparent at once during his examination before you when he arose from his chair and, in a burst of intense anger, stated to me, 'You are a son-of-a-gun. If you talk that way I will stick a knife in your belly.' Thus we have an intimate view of the real nature of the man who so easily and naturally reverts to the savage type from which he so recently sprung. His proper environment is among the cock-fighters and bolo-wielders of the Philippine jungle. Lying to him is an accomplishment. This man's conclusions and opinions have been accepted by you and upon his word the investigation is proceeding. If he represents the type of young patriot who is to assume the responsibility of governing the Philippine Islands, if the independence sought for by the Filipino politicians is to come about, then we may look forward to the future of the country with nothing but despair."

to the great damage of the said Manuel S. Concepcion to the pernicious example of all others in like case offending, and against the peace and dignity of the United States of America.

Wherefore, said attorney on behalf of the United States prays a consideration of the said Court herein of the premises and that the process of law be awarded against the said William S. Fleming in this behalf, to make answer to the United States, touching the premises aforesaid.

H. D. RODGER.
Special Assistant United States Attorney for District of China.

Manuel S. Concepcion of the City of Shanghai, China, being duly sworn on oath says that he has read the foregoing information charging one William S. Fleming with writing and publishing a libel. # PLOT TO BOMB ROYALTIES IS NIPPED IN TIME

Rumania's King And Queen In Train When Mine On Track Is Discovered

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, July 25.—A Bukharest telegram announces the discovery of an anarchist plot to blow up the Royal train, in which the King and Queen of Rumania were leaving for Paris.

Secret police agents, the telegram states, arrested the conspirators, who had placed a mine on the railway line, timed to explode just as the train steamed out of the station.

Belgians Unveil Statue To Dead

Paris, July 25.—There took place in the cemetery at Havre on Sunday the dedication of a monument erected by the Belgian Government to the Belgian soldiers who fell in the war. Among those present was the Belgian Minister of Defence.

Japanese Navy Is Leading World In Basis Of Big Ships

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 25.—In the House of Commons today, questioned as to the number of capital ships projected but not laid down for the United States, Japan and the British Empire, Mr. Leopold Amery, Parliamentary Financial Secretary to the Admiralty, replied that the respective numbers were one, ten and four.

The number of capital ships, he added, that were at present in full commission as far as could be judged were as follows:—America, 16; Japan, 18; and the British Empire 13 battleships, besides three battle-cruisers belonging to the British Empire.

Spain's Policy Is For Friendship With France And Britain

FLOOD AT ICHANG BREAKS DIKE AND DESTROYS HOMES

New Foreign Area Is Made Untenable—Gardens Also Ruined

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Ichang, July 21 (by mail.)—As already notified, Ichang has been visited by the highest recorded water mark in a quarter of a century. In 1896 the water rose to 53 feet 3 inches, and this year it reached 51 feet 4 inches. Since the last great flood, a district called the South Lake has been brought into the market for building purposes. A dyke was built, but not high enough to meet such a flood as came this year.

When the river began to rise this month the embankment was anxiously watched, but it gave way on Saturday morning, with the result that a large district was completely flooded, and nearly all these fine houses were under water, some of them to the height of the first storey. The British American Tobacco Co. had rented premises there, and their agent had about an hour in which to get clear of the rushing waters; the Telegraph Office is also there, and it was soon inundated to the depth of eight or ten feet.

The water started to fall on the 18th instant and although much of it soon ran off this district, much more will lie there for months to come, and houses will have been rendered uninhabitable.

Besides houses being under water, much ground that was used as vegetable gardens has also been flooded, and so crops of vegetables and also grain have been lost. Telegraph wires seem to have been broken down between here and Hankow, as also between here and Chungking, and there is no telegraphic communication with this port even now, five days after the flood was at its highest.

Steamers which arrived from Hankow reported that the country had been very badly flooded between there and here; also there must have been many wrecks and accidents for numerous dead bodies had been seen carried down on the flood.

The Chungking steamers were nearly all held up during the time that the water was at its highest, and the Alice Dollar was detained here for about six days, while some of the others had started out, but had to wait for a slight fall before they could reach Chungking.

The Shuhun did manage to get away and reached Chungking in almost normal steaming time for the voyage: the very worst part of the journey has been reported by both up and down river steamers to be the Ichang Gorge, where the water was running very strongly; and there was a very bad whirlpool at the Ichang end of the gorge.

One boat coming down had a narrow escape there, as the water swirled up to such an extent that the lifeboat was carried away.

The water has now fallen sufficiently to allow steamers to resume their runs. Two new boats, Kiangking belonging to the China Merchants Co., but flying the French flag; and the Anning of Arnhold Bros., have arrived here from Shanghai, and will soon be leaving on their first voyage to Chungking.

Steamer China Chartered For Tsing Hua Men Going To American Colleges

Forty-Nine Chinese Students Sent Through Return Of Boxer Indemnity, Will Study In U.S.; Many To Technical Schools

Forty-nine Tsing Hua College students will sail on the China mail steamer China on August 3 for the United States to enter American universities. A number of local organisations will give the departing students receptions before they sail.

Mr. Y. C. Tong, Resident Director of the Chinese Red Cross Society, is in charge of the arrangements for the departure of the students and has chartered the steamer China for the exclusive use of the delegation to America. Several other students will sail on the same steamer.

It is significant that the students will be scattered among the leading colleges in America and most of them will pursue technical courses.

Each year the Tsing Hua College, which was established with funds returned by the Washington Government out of the boxer indemnity, sends a large number of its graduates to America. This year, the number is comparatively small, due to the high cost of living in the States and the rise in the gold exchange.

The Y.M.C.A., Kiangsu Educational Association, Vocational Educational Association, World Chinese Students' Federation and the Chambers of Commerce in Shanghai are among the organisations which are planning to entertain the students before sailing.

ENGLAND HAS 362 FOR FOUR WICKETS IN TEST MATCH

RUSSELL GETS 101

Sussex And Hampshire Elevens Winners In County Matches

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 25.—The fourth test match of the present series opened this morning at the Old Trafford ground, Manchester, no play having been possible on Saturday owing to rain. Although the weather was fine, the wicket played slow.

The team finally selected to represent England was as follows: Major L. H. Tennyson, captain; J. W. H. T. Douglas, G. H. Fender, Woolley, Brown, Hallows, Ernest Tyldesley, Russell, Mead, Parker and Parkin.

Tennyson won the toss and sent in Russell and Brown. Gregory and McDonald sharing the attack at the start of the innings.

The English batsmen generally gave a much more convincing display than in any previous test match of the present Australian tour. Brown's 31 proved to be the lowest individual score of the day. Russell batted in fine style for 101, hitting all round the wicket, albeit he was lucky, being twice badly missed by Armstrong in the slips. His hits included nine fours.

Woolley, who was in brilliant form, contributed 41, and Mead batted confidently for 47. Towards the end of the day Tyldesley and Fender were associated in a useful partnership. The former went in for brisk and vigorous hitting, while the latter's display was also marked by plenty of enterprise.

Both batsmen were not out when stumps were drawn, Tyldesley's score being 73 and Fender's 44. At close of play England had made 362 for four wickets.

When the score stood at 341 for four wickets a singular incident occurred. Tennyson sought to declare the innings closed, but Armstrong took objection to this on the question of time, and his objection was upheld by the umpires.

When the Australians again took the field, after the interruption thus caused, it was to the accompaniment of loud booing from the crowd, numbering some 25,000, who were obviously ignorant of the laws.

Tennyson appealed to the crowd to desist, in view of the facts, whereupon the crowd quietened down and the game was resumed after 23 minutes' delay.

(Note.—The laws lay down that in a three-day match when there is no play on the first day the rules regarding the follow on and the declaration of innings shall apply as in the case of a two-day match. Tennyson was thereby debarred from declaring "on the first day later than one hour and forty minutes before the time agreed upon for drawing stumps.)

England.—First Innings.

|---|---|
| Brown c Gregory b Armstrong | 3 |
| Russell b Gregory | 10 |
| Woolley c Pellew b Armstrong | 41 |
| Mead c Andrews b Hendry | 47 |
| Tyldesley (E.) not out | 78 |
| P. G. H. Fender not out | 44 |
| Extras | 20 |
| Total for 4 wickets | 362 |

COUNTY MATCHES

At Brighton—Sussex beat Gloucestershire by an innings and 210 runs.

LAWN BOWLERS SCORE HEAVILY IN SUNDAY PLAY

SEMI-FINALS REACHED

Bain, Aitkenhead, Ross Young And Richards Still In Picture

BY "THE SHOT"

Last Sunday's game between the Juniors and the Club proved to be a rather one-sided affair, the latter winning in no uncertain fashion.

The game was remarkable for the heavy scoring on all the rinks. There seemed to be no reason at all for this, as the greens were in excellent condition.

Geordie Dunlop was again to the fore with a 32-15 win against a strong Juniors four, while McAllum would not allow Burnside in the picture at all. This game was marked by the Juniors skip having two sixes, and a seven tallied against him. McDougall lost a fairly close game against his old opponent Stormes. Irvine, who did duty for Harborne, at times bowled splendidly and shows great promise.

Crewe Read at one time looked as though he would swamp McAlister, but his team seemed to stock up and the Juniors four managed to win in the end. I was pleased to see Albert Taylor in the game once again—a top notch woodsman this, and one we can't afford to lose.

What a great game that was between Rossie Young's Juniors four and Tom Main's Recs rink in the championship.

Entering the competition somewhat as a joke we have heard the Recs rink termed "the forlorn hope," "the bunch of mutts," etc. The latter was Frank Jones' pet phraseology in describing them. Believe me, there never was a bigger mistake made than to treat their prowess with anything less than respect.

Starting off with a three and two against them in the first two ends one naturally began to think it only a matter of how many points they would lose by. But no, at the next they got a one and deserved more and from this point it was dog eat dog right until the last end.

At the 20th end the Juniors le by two points when Main went down. Jimmy Marshgreen's wood was kissing the jack, and with all the assurance in the world Dicky shouted "pick it out, Tommy, we've plenty of back woods." With a perfectly delivered wood Tommy Main ran the jack through only to see it canon and still lay one shot against them. Three up and one to go looked good for the Juniors and Sam Chilver lay his second 18 inches behind the jack while Wade and Torry's woods were slightly short. Dicky outbowled McAlister and lay the shot. The little bit of stage play by Mac before he delivered his last wood did not appeal to me very much, it being almost pitch dark then. Main made a gallant attempt to save the end and his first wood gave them two points. Rossie was doing his best to put up a block and Main's second wood was just a trifle narrow and failed to clear the timber yard.

Thus ended a great game, in which the losers almost deserved to win. Several remarks were made after the match about a wood which should have counted but which was removed before measurement by John Wade, playing first wood.

Whether it was a counter or not, does not effect the issue, as this is a matter which rests solely between the respective thirds and immediately a wood is burned by one on the side to whom the wood belong, it is dead. I have noticed lately that the etiquette of the game is being disregarded in many cases. From a mere spectator's view I would ask that when the skips are bowling, the first and second woods of each team to retire to the bank. Their view of the game is quite uninterrupted from this point, and anyhow, they have no right to be worrying the thirds in their business.

The rinks have now reached the semi finals, which will be played on neutral grounds. The following is the draw:

C. M. Bain vs. C. Richards
R. C. Aitkenhead vs. J. Ross Young

Looking over the above names I'm thinking the Scotties will be flattering themselves on their trundling prowess, more anon.

AMERICAN CAR WINS GRAND PRIX; MURPHY DRIVES

Ralph De Palma And Goux Place With Ballot Machines

(Reuter's Service)

Le Mans, July 25.—The motor car Grand Prix was won by a Ousenberg, American car, driven by Murphy, in four hours, seven minutes, 10 seconds, giving an average speed of 120½ kilometers an hour.

De Palma came second and Goux third, both driving Ballot machines. Two British competitors, driving Talbots, were not placed.

The race is regarded as a commercial rather than a sporting event, with Americans in French cars and Frenchmen in American cars.

The triangular course of over 17 kilometers was covered 30 times.

ROMANCE IS NOT DEAD—SNORING

Gink Fowler's Fight Career Proves There Are Still Fairy Godmothers

BY "BUGS" BAER

A Dark Rip Van Winkle comes back from a Leavensworth sleep when Jack Johnson pops out of the vault. Jack announces that his first official act will be to raid a hardware store and buy 600 doorknobs. He hasn't had his hand on a doorknob in ten months. He never realised what an important place doorknobs occupy in life until he saw the kind of doors that don't have any.

A doorknob also played a leading role in Gink Fowler's career. It wasn't on a gate but in a glove. In the days when fighters fought for a sour dime and flailed away at each other with ripe knuckles, Gink was the duke of thugs.

At the age of eight Gink was sent to the old offenders' jailhouse for stealing the hair off a barber-shop floor. He came out at the age of nine, a better and wiser man.

GINK ROSE RAPIDLY

He got into the fight game through a misunderstanding. He didn't want to learn how to read but his grandmother compelled him to go to school. When the Civil War broke out, Gink's superior education helped him to read the letters on the eye test and he rapidly made his way to the front. He beat that record coming back. After his share of the war was over, Gink let the other boys fight it out for the next five years.

He went West and was with Custer when he met the Indians. That is, he was with Custer until Custer met the Indians. It wasn't Gink's meeting day. He appointed himself Western representative of the marathon industry and didn't change gears before he reached the coast.

Jim Corbett was a bank clerk at the time, but Gink never met him during business hours because Gink's banking hours were his own business. He thought jimmies were keys, and the judge gave him four years in which to lose his freckles. About this time all the Eastern fighters were loping into California, and Gink decided to fight for a living.

His first opponent was the Hawaiian Buzzer, whose knuckles were made in a brass foundry. He had knocked everybody for a round trip.

SWELL RIDE FOR GINK

Gink went out to see Luther Burbank, who was a young man then and hadn't invented the grapefruit with the open plumbing. Luther grated two doorknobs on to Gink's gloves, and Gink went into the battle like the Ku Klux Clan after a rope.

His first blow landed rather high and only stunned the Buzzer for two years. The next crack hit the Hawaiian on the back of the face and the Buzzer cut his hair with his own teeth. The enthusiastic admirers of Gink gave him a floral offering of feathers with tar sauce and wouldn't think of Gink soiling one of his feet on the ground. They got him a limousine off a rail fence and carried him in triumph to the next precinct.

He had a sixth sense that told him he was liable to lose his other five. But that story is a different answer on the questionnaire.

M.B.K. WINNER FROM BANK IN FINAL OF HONG TENNIS

Tanaka And Okada Take Three Of Four Sets In Steady Play

ONE SET TO BANK

Canavarro Is Star But Consistent Japanese Eran Victory

Mitsui Bussan Kaisha, represented by Tanaka and Okada, won the two silver cups and the 1921 championship in the hong doubles by their victory over the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, Canavarro and Collaco, in the final at the Shanghai Cricket club yesterday. The scores were 3-6, 6-4, 8-6, 6-1.

The battle was close until the end of the third set, and was won by more consistent rather than superior tennis technique. The largest crowd ever gathered to watch a tennis final in Shanghai applauded the fast play and brilliant returns. One remarkable feature of the match was that none of the four contestants had a winning serve, for very few placed serves failed of return.

Tanaka, veteran of last year's finals when Mitsui Bussan Kaisha bowed to St. John's University, represented by Messrs. Pott and Roberts, played a steady, tireless game, scoring points by seemingly impossible returns, and volleys to the base line.

Okada played excellent tennis, consistent and sure. He served a few doubles early in the match, but settled down to his stroke when the net battle became hot.

The tennis brain in the final match was undoubtedly Canavarro. His service was the most difficult to return, his drive was the hardest, and his placement the most accurate. On several occasions he exhibited court pyrotechnics that dazzled the eye. With the slightest chance of placing a return he was almost certain of scoring a point.

Collaco played a brilliant but erratic game for the first two sets, and then seemed to lose command of his stroke. As a net artist he probably did more than either his team mate, or the opposing team. But he failed when driven to a corner, and in the fourth set went completely wild.

The third set stood 3-0 in favor of Canavarro and Collaco, but the Japanese rallied and drove the set to love, and a win at 8-6. Time and again the Bank team would lead in a game by 40-0, or 40-15, only to lose to the steadier court work of the Mitsui players.

After the match the winners were presented with the silver cups, and cheered by the crowd present.

SETTLEMENT OF BANK WILL BE TRANSACTIONAL

Stockholders Vote In Favor Of Compromise And Accept Accounts

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, July 25.—A general meeting of the shareholders of the Banque Industrielle de Chine took place this morning. The report of the Board of Directors and the renewal of their powers were approved by 32,000 votes to 1,800. The meeting approved unanimously, less 297 dissentients, two resolutions:

(1). Granting the Board of Directors power to put in a petition for a transactional settlement.

(2). Fixing the conditions of repayment of claims against the bank, viz. (a) All debts of a purely banking nature, deposit accounts, cheques, drafts, etc., will be paid by priority; (b) creditors will have the choice either of repayment or of obtaining preference shares; (c) the other claims will be repaid later with interest.

By the adoption of these resolutions the meeting showed its determination to insure that the Banque Industrielle shall continue to operate after the transactional settlement has enabled it to emerge from the present crisis.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, July 25.—An extraordinary general meeting of the Banque Industrielle de Chine, presided over by Senator Berthelot, President of the Administrative Council of the Bank, to decide on the reorganisation of the company, today approved the demand for a compromise settlement in which connection the Commercial Tribunal will give its decision tomorrow.

After a rather lively meeting, the accounts for 1920 were adopted by 32,165 votes to 1,875.

The other proposals of the Administrative Council were carried by a large majority.

EXPLAIN THE PLAN

According to officials of the local branch the transactional settlement of the bank's affairs will mean that no creditor can sue the bank for money due, but will be asked to agree to a settlement on partial payments of cash or preference in shares in the bank.

An administrator will be appointed to co-operate with the manager in each branch, until the re-opening of its doors for public business.

The priority of claim is understood to mean that transactions of a purely banking nature, such as cheques, accounts and exchange contracts will be met first.

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 25.—Mr. Justice Darling has begun the hearing of a petition by the Armes Automatiques Lewis and the Birmingham Small Arms Company for the recovery of £3,000,000 from the Government, this amount having been retained as payment of excess profits and income taxes.

The question at issue is the liability to taxation of the Lewis Company, which is a Belgian company, in which the Birmingham Small Arms Company is a shareholder.

It was stated that during the war guns were supplied to the British Government at a reduced price in consideration of the firms being exempted from British taxation.

Japanese In Shantung And Their Encroachments

Peking, July 20.—The Japanese Legation in Peking has instructed the consul general at Tsinanfu to investigate and check up your correspondent's detailed report of Japanese occupation in Shantung, the third instalment of which is forwarded herewith. It was said at the Legation that after the Japanese consul general completes his own investigation there may be some corrections.

As the report is given as of October 1920, it may be pointed out that if the consul general is thorough he can show many more instances. He has the fullest facilities for getting the information and it is expected that he will furnish instances of additional parcels of land purchased or occupied, new mines and businesses opened. His report will bring the situation down to date.

Installation of post offices has been one of the most annoying of all the Japanese activities in Shantung, according to the Agency's investigators who submitted the report.

China has protested from time to time against the installation of any new post offices and against the installation of any new means of communication such as telephone and telegraph lines. China zealously guards those privileges and recently refused to permit a mixed foreign settlement at a summer resort to erect their own line.

Basing their claim on alleged German rights, according to the investigators, they have opened new post offices in many places, a detailed list of which will be compiled later and have extended the telegraph lines into territories not privileged under the agreements with Germany. At first the Japanese asked to establish two post offices, one in Tsinanfu and the other in Weihsien for the sole purpose of making communication of their nationals more convenient. Since then they have established them in many other places.

TELEGRAPH LINES TOO

In places like Weihsien, Chowchuan and others, these offices work in conjunction with the newly extended Japanese telegraph lines. Mail and telegrams are both received.

The impression is generally given out by the Japanese that the telegraph line from Tsingtau to Tsinan is for railroad use only but the investigators declare that it is extensively used as a commercial line by the Japanese while the Chinese are generally excluded.

This system, according to the reports, gives the Japanese a monopoly in some lines of business and their commerce is expedited while the Chinese business men have to depend largely on mail.

In many parts of Shantung, the competition is so keen between the Japanese postal and telegraph systems and the Chinese, that the Chinese revenue is seriously effected. The Japanese who did not have to go to the initial installation expense on the main lines as did the Chinese, are said to be offering lower rates. The Chinese lines are said to be used little if any by the Japanese business men. While this is but natural, the situation does not alter the conditions for the Chinese.

The Chinese officials have several times protested against this continual extension of communications systems but they have obtained no results.

ONLY IN CEDED ZONES

Hand in hand with the extension of the communications systems is the constant usurpation of authority in Chinese towns, the report says. Except in the railzones and the special ceded areas no rights were given the Germans to participate in administrative affairs anywhere.

Now it is said that the Japanese go into the cities and towns ignore the local officials, tear up streets, pave them with Japanese materials, seize or buy land and proceed to erect public or semi-public buildings. They form their own self governing councils in defiance of the Chinese, says the report. These councils which go by the names of clubs, really pass ordinances for the welfare of Japanese residents and act in all respects as duly authorised municipal councils.

In Changtien the Japanese have paved several streets and have given them Japanese names which convinces the Chinese that Japan does not intend to fully withdraw from Shantung this or any other time. Here are also to be found Japanese hospitals, Japanese primary and higher schools and several special institutes for giving instructions in Japanese language. Protests of the Chinese officials here, as elsewhere, are ignored.

In the Fan Tze area the Japanese paved three broad streets and established schools and hospitals. Here is also one of the Japanese self governing organisations.

POSHAN IS WELL FILLED

In Poshan there are so many Japanese residents that a strong Japanese Chamber of Commerce has been organised and this looks after Japanese interests generally. There are also schools and hospitals.

In Kaomieh there are Japanese schools, high and primary schools and Japanese hospitals.

In Liuchuan in addition to establishing hospitals and schools they also, without permission of the Chinese, built water works.

In Liniiu the Japanese forcibly took the land required for establishing a new water supply.

To the protests by Chinese to the above activities, the Japanese answer has been that the Japanese are progressive, that they must protect the health of their people and hence they have established the various institutions. Protests that they have no right whatever in regions outside the ceded areas and rail zones are not answered.

IN JAPANESE FAVOR

Throughout Shantung, the self-governing clubs or councils cooperate to the fullest extent for the benefit of the Japanese residents and business men and for the interests of Japan as a whole, say the investigators. There are many industrial associations and when land is to be used where it is not warranted by law, the project has the full support of all these associations.

While the agreements with Germany specifically stated that even in the railway zone, the Germans were not to buy more land than was actually necessary to the success of the railroad which was understood to be for the benefit of both Chinese and Germans, the Japanese have claimed, the report says, that the railway is nothing less than an extension of the ceded area of Kiaochow. They have accordingly widened the zone where it has been lucrative and have exceeded the Sino-German terms.

The investigators say that the Japanese are taking advantage of the delay in settling the Shantung matter and are making business and other preparations as though they intend to remain there always.

Everywhere the Japanese settle they dominate the situation, says the report, knowing that the Chinese will and can do nothing so long as Japanese troops are in Shantung.

GET GENERAL FEELING

The investigators aside from obtaining statistical and other information, talked to both Chinese and Japanese to get the general feeling in Shantung.

They report that the Japanese feel that they should make hay while the sun shines and that if the Shantung case is not settled to the most complete satisfaction of the Japanese, the latter will be so firmly established that they can dominate business, even after the troops are removed. They have constructed so many buildings, opened so many mines and made so many general improvements and filled the towns with so many Japanese residents that China or the Powers will find it difficult to obtain a complete evacuation of the Japanese.

This is the opinion of the Japanese themselves and this impression that prevails, together with the facts shown, is believed to be the real basis for China's refusal to negotiate directly with the Japanese. Should direct negotiations begin, the Japanese would present an astounding bill for the work they have done, regardless of the fact that they had no right, as successors to Germany, to do that work.

The Chung Mei News Agency will give a detailed report on the practice in handling the railways of Shantung and how the railroads are used to give impetus to Japanese business. The report was obtained primarily because of the importance of the Shantung case in regard to the coming conference.

Pellagra Afflicts Thousands Due To Partial Starvation

(Reuter's Service)

New York, July 25.—Alarming reports have come to hand of outbreaks of disease in the cotton growing area in the South. It is stated that 100,000 people have been stricken with pellagra and it is feared that at least 10,000 will die.

The epidemic is said to be due to starvation, owing to the collapse of the cotton market, which is ruining the farmers and planters.

FOR FAMINE RELIEF

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, July 22.—Natives of Kweichow resident in Peking have organised a Famine Relief Association to care for those who are starving in their province. They propose to raise funds by private subscription and by giving entertainments, the first of which will be in Central Park July 30 and 31.

Chinese and western music, plays, modern dances, boxing, fencing and fireworks will make up the program. The program will begin at noon each day.

Food supplies in Kweichow have been so far exhausted that in many places the people could not buy food even if they had the money. The association plans to have the food shipped in to them. All the money from the sale of tickets will be used for famine relief.

MOORS PRESSING SPANIARDS HARD; LOSSES UNKNOWN

Attempt To Evacuate In Face Of Heavy Fire Stopped As Many Fall

(Reuter's Service)

Madrid, July 25.—The Minister of War has issued a statement to the effect that the Spanish forces at Sididris, Morocco, are in a very critical position, and the attacks of the enemy are becoming increasingly violent.

An attempt to evacuate the position by sea under the protection of a cruiser had to be stopped, as the enemy's fire was causing too many losses.

Communication with the town of Melilla has been cut.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, July 25.—According to Madrid advices, General Berenguer, the Governor-General of Spanish Morocco, has arrived at Melilla. He has reported to the Minister of War that the Sidi Ajan positions have been strongly attacked by considerable forces and that the late General Sylvestre's detachment continues to withdraw. General Berenguer adds that he believes he has sufficient troops to defend the Melilla zone.

The Spanish losses are not yet known. Four vessels laden with troops have arrived at Melilla, and three others are expected immediately.

Student Disappears On Steamer Voyage

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 24.—Later reports show that Mr. Chen Kuang-ying, the missing Consular student, left Havana accompanied by another student, and that he went on board a steamer but was missing at the next port of call.

The Government has now telegraphed to Mr. Wu Keh-cho, Charge d'Affaires in Cuba, to detain the student who had accompanied Mr. Chen to the steamer, pending further investigations.

Minister Now Keen To Suppress Poppy

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 24.—Mr. Chi Yao-shan, Minister of the Interior, is showing a very keen interest in opium suppression. He insists on dispatching opium commissioners to Suaiyuan, Sinkiang, Kansu, Anhui, Kiangsi Fukien, Kirin and Heilungkiang in addition to other centers already reported. Kansu, for the first time in its history, is growing poppy this year and reports from Sinkiang tell of considerable growth in that province.

Train Bandit Gang Slays French Officer

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, July 26.—A gang of masked and armed bandits held up and robbed the passengers on the Paris-Marseilles express near Saune yesterday. Two young French officers who resisted were shot and one of them killed. The bandits escaped.

ONO ENTERTAINS

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, July 22.—Mr. Ono, representative of the Japanese banking group interested in the Nishihara loans, has arranged an elaborate entertainment for next Monday night in honor of prominent Japanese and Chinese bankers and financial and business men. The roof garden of Hotel de Pekin has been reserved for the entertainment. The dancing will be on the first floor.

While Mr. Ono has been optimistic regarding the reaching of a satisfactory agreement with the Chinese Government, the arrangement has not yet been concluded, it is said and the date of his departure has not been set.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 24.—It is reported from Mukden that General Chang Tso-lin is holding the salt revenues in the Three Eastern Provinces, and threatens to appoint his own man to the salt offices in Manchuria.

The Salt Inspectorate has received remittances up to the end of June, however, and it is not thought likely that General Chang will persist in a procedure that would quickly bring him into unfriendly relations with the Powers to whom the salt revenues are pledged as security for loans.

Meanwhile the position of the staff of the Salt Gabelle in Manchuria is most unsatisfactory.

CANTONESE TAKE CHENCHOW CITY WITHOUT FIGHT

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, July 26.—It is reported that the Hunanese forces (under leadership of Cantonese) have captured Chenchow and that the Kwangsi troops are retreating in disorder without offering resistance. General Shen Hung-ying, with an army of 10,000, is said to have refused to surrender to the Cantonese but to have promised to declare independence without, however, surrendering his arms.

It is stated that General Chen Chiung-ming is appointing General Lau Chun-wan Commander-in-Chief of the whole of Kwangsi, with orders to disband the Kwangsi soldiery.

It is reported that General Lu Yung-ting has arrived at Annam and is proceeding to Shanghai.

Health, Beauty And The Home

Wait on Yourself!

By Mrs. Christine Frederick,
The Distinguished Authority on Household Efficiency.

WHAT makes up the work of the home? Cooking, cleaning, laundry work will be the answer. But what about the "picking up" and the amount of "straightening" which cannot be classed as definite tasks, but which, nevertheless, take a great deal of some person's time? Indeed, in many families it will be found that from 10 to 20 per cent of the total working time of mother or paid servant is spent in this "pick up," in waiting on others and other mere personal service.

This simple point is brought up here because, while we may not have considered it, it has a definite, close relation to that still vexing servant problem. No matter how much to-day's home-maker may sigh for the past days of the then little appreciated hired girl who cheerfully worked twelve hours a day, that type of worker has vanished as completely as the buffalo from our western plains. Housework to-day is being done, and will be increasingly followed out, on a straight business basis of definite hours at so much per hour. On this new basis it costs a great deal and, further, is difficult to secure at any price. Can we afford, when labor is so scarce and so expensive, to pay for its being spent in several hours of "picking up" and waiting on persons perfectly able to wait on themselves?

I recall, as a little girl, watching my grandmother lay out my grandfather's Sunday clothes. On the big poster bed she first laid his plaited, snowy shirt, and the vest with the pearl studs. Then she put in his topaz shirt links and laid his white string tie, his underwear, his suit, his shoes just where they would be most convenient for him. Last she fetched his immense gold-headed cane and his gloves and his tall hat. Now that I think of it, most of my grandmother's time was spent as a high-class valet.

But to-day, with labor at the price it is, we had better learn to wait on ourselves and to refuse to burden some other member of the family with the duties of a valet when there are so many more worthwhile things they could do! In other words, an important solution of the servant problem which I have not before seen mentioned is efficient family habits. The family where each does his share, either of "picking up" or waiting on himself, is easier to manage a house for and requires less service. And under the new basis of payment by the hour we shall have to separate the work of the home which is truly work, like cooking and cleaning, from that which is only unnecessary personal service.

Shall we start with our poor husbands first? Many women tell us that their husbands require much waiting on, and that leaving his soiled socks on the floor is man's favorite indoor sport. I know it is difficult to reform any adult. But will not these husbands be willing to wait on themselves if they see that it means a cash saving to their pocketbooks? Husbands and the other men in the home need to change their attitude toward personal service. They, too, must realize that the day of servants at $3 a week are no more and that it is impossible to expect so much waiting on either from their wives or from the servants they pay by the day.

But if we cannot do much to reform the habits of the adult, we can still hope to train the fathers of to-morrow. We can begin now, each mother and home-maker, to train up the right kind of husband for somebody else's little girl. It may seem a trifling thing and not important enough to justify the trouble it entails. But could anything be more worth while than to train children to habits of self-reliance, independence and being able to care for themselves?

The widely spreading movement for children's camps has done much to encourage such habits. In camp each person takes care of his own belongings, makes his bed and keeps his room tidy. Why cannot every child do the same in his own home? It is a pity that the excellent teaching of the camp cannot be carried over into home life. One mother told me the other day that while her boy gladly did all these duties at camp he wouldn't wait on himself at home, saying, "Oh, well, this is home, and that's different."

Now this is exactly the attitude which must not be encouraged or permitted—that "this is home and different." Home is the place where there must be training in right personal habits so that there will be less need for service. If it is irksome for Susie to pick up her nightwear which she has dropped on the floor, or if Tom grumbles when asked to lay away his books, the mother herself must not pass over the matter and weakly do it herself. It would be a splendid thing if during these years children could be given over to a State or national training school for part of the year. There is a contagion in working with a group and taking orders from an outsider which sometimes a home cannot give.

But however it must be achieved, we mothers should think of what conditions will be when Tom and Susie, twenty years from now, have homes of their own. We must try to fit them to manage their homes with little or no service. For, after all, the essentials of home-making are simple and easily learned.

Even if our children are going to become the greatest of lawyers or opera stars, that does not excuse them from being able to cook a meal for themselves, pick up their own shoes or be efficient in their personal habits.

One could mention many other services which can easily be eliminated in many a home. Why must that woman who tirelessly spends hours in shopping need to ring a bell and ask some other woman to place a small stick of wood upon the parlor fire? Why do so many families still think they need a waitress when self-service at table can be made so graceful and easy and the family can have absolute privacy? Why do we need the services of a permanent chambermaid when if each member of the family spent a quarter of an hour daily on his or her own room the services of a servant could be dispensed with?

This family co-operation and "learning to wait on ourselves" is a solution of the servant problem which costs nothing to try and which can be applied in any home. We must clearly draw the line between work which is worth paying for and service which we can well do for ourselves.

Avoiding Wrinkles

By Lina Cavalieri,
The Most Famous Living Beauty.

EVERY woman wants to retain the smooth, unlined skin of her childhood as long as possible. She watches its going with genuine regret, because she knows that no artificial coloring, no matter how skilfully applied, can ever rival the natural bloom that is nature's heritage to the young.

But while rosy cheeks only remain as the result of a sane and thoroughly hygienic mode of life, it is well known that wrinkles can be kept away indefinitely by the exercise of great care and vigilance. Fifteen minutes given to massaging your skin night and morning will keep it as smooth and unlined as a girl's. Study your face carefully and find out its weak points. Learn where you are most susceptible to wrinkles and then set about removing them patiently by nourishing the flabby muscles that lie underneath the wrinkle areas.

It is well for you to know that the wrinkle regions of a woman's face are four. The first and most conspicuous is about the outer corner of the eyes. The wrinkles there formed have been known for ages as crow's feet, because they radiate outward in somewhat the fashion that a bird's toes are disposed. They might just as fittingly be called chicken's toes, pigeon's toes or eagle's toes.

These lines are supposed to be ineradicable and the unmistakable signs of age. The real truth of the matter is that they are paths of laughter. They often indicate a merry disposition. In fact, I have seen them on the face of a boy of twelve. I have seen them strongly marked on the countenance of a young woman of twenty-one. They are the measures of the laughing capacity of the person who bears them. In that light they are the least ugly of the wrinkles, and I'd much rather have them than a sour disposition. Yet, wrinkles they are, and at best any wrinkles are undesirable.

To remove these objectionable crow's feet dip the fingers in one of the good massage creams, and with the second and third fingers rub the area affected with a rotary motion, working from the corners of the eyes outward toward the hair line.

More disfiguring than the crow's feet, because of more ignoble origin and more difficult to erase, are the tell-tale diagonal lines from the nostrils to the corner of the lips. They are known variously as "bad-temper lines," the "emotional lines" or "the lines of discontent." Using the middle finger, the massage should begin at the corners of the mouth and should end where the lines end, at the nostrils. This movement should also be a rotary one. It should be deeper and firmer than that about the eyes.

The third of the wrinkle areas, and the one in which the wrinkles often first appear in many faces, is the forehead. In massaging these lines of the brow, remember the general rule for massage. The movement must be in contrary direction from the line. For instance, the vertical lines between the eyes must be treated by the second finger of each hand, and must be rotary and upward, branching above the eyes with a gently diminishing motion to the right and left toward the temples.

The tranverse lines, forming as they do by a creasing of the skin from bottom to top, should be massaged by a rotary motion from the bottom to the top of the forehead.

The fourth of the danger zones is that in front of the ears. The vertical lines in front of the ears are believed to betoken advancing age. Yet, like those about the eyes, they are misleading. They sometimes appear on the faces of infants. The manner in which the ear is set accounts largely for the presence of these wrinkles. If it is set out from the head prominently the skin is loose in front of the ear and falls readily into wrinkles.

To retard the deepening of this fold of the skin, use the middle finger for massage, and with deep, firm motion push slowly upward toward the top of the ear.

The lines of the neck behind the ear distress some women. To correct them, massage with the first, second and third fingers deeply upward toward the hair.

Massage of the entire body is very helpful also in toning up the system. It is prescribed by many physicians for nervous disorders, for effective circulation and for the reduction of flesh, and will even make a thin woman beautifully plump if she will use a good emollient and nourishing cream to feed the tissues.

YO! HO! THE JOLLY SMUGGLERS LOSE WHISKY AND SHIP

British Schooner Also Held To Explain Where 1,000 Cases Went On Voyage

(Reuter's Service)

New Haven, Conn., July 25.—An affray recalling the old smuggling days, and resulting in the capture of a gang of smugglers in the act of unloading cases of whisky near the entrance of New Haven harbor, took place last night.

The authorities, who had been warned by telephone of the attempt to run a contraband cargo, had police stationed several miles along the shore when the attempt was detected.

At midnight motor cars conveying police charged into the smugglers, who were landing the cases from a sloop.

The police arrested all the smugglers, and confiscated 250 cases of whisky and also the sloop, which has an auxiliary engine and is believed to have acted as carrier for a larger vessel which has frequently been sighted recently.

The marks on the cases indicated that they came from the Bahamas. The British schooner Pocomoke has been detained at New Haven, pending an explanation of the disappearance of a thousand cases of whisky during her voyage from the Bahamas, and torpedo boats and seaplanes are patrolling the coast., searching for a sister ship of the Pocomoke, which is believed to be hidden in a creek.

Liquor running has been most successful on the coast of Florida till recently, when the authorities captured many motorboats bringing liquor from "wet" countries.

These operations are believed to have solved the enigma of the "mystery ships" which have recently been sighted off the American coast.

UNGERN FORCES IN RED'S REAR MAY TAKE URGA

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 25.—An official telegram from Harbin regarding Baron Ungern's position in Outer Mongolia states that Ungern is now at Vankuren, west of Urga, while two detachments of his Cossacks are in the rear of the Red forces in Transbaikalia.

The message adds that the Reds may be forced to evacuate Urga, at least for a time.

Germans To March Under "Anti-War" And Peace Banners

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, July 25.—Anti-war demonstrations all over Germany have been planned for July 31 by a Berlin "peace society." It is proposed that processions in which banners bearing the inscription "Down with War" will be carried, shall be organised, lectures given and pamphlets distributed in all the principal cities of Germany.

The French newspapers comment that this is a fitting rejoinder to the too numerous Pan-Germanist demonstrations.

Only $5,000 To Aid Inundated Villages

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 23.—The Military Governor of Shantung reports having received a telegram from the Director General of River Conservancy in Shantung saying that the recent heavy rain had resulted in the flooding of 200 villages, including Jenyi and Wangyin in Lichinhsien.

The report says that the Tuchun had contributed $5,000 for immediate relief from the funds of the Shantung Relief Association, but that a large sum was needed immediately to relieve the situation.

HUNDRED MILLION NOTES

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, July 26.—An issue of 100,000,000 Yen extraordinary five percent Exchequer notes ("Ogoh") is being offered for subscription on August 8 and 10, redeemable on June 1, 1926. The new issue is for the conversion of the Exchequer notes ("Hagoh") falling due on Sept. 1.

Educational Year Book Out

That useful lexicon of educational and general information regarding China, "The Educational Directory and Year Book of China," now off the press, is available to purchasers at the various book stores.

This year's edition contains a succinct and informative review of events of the past year and extensive record of educational progress and facilities throughout the country. The various larger universities and colleges and their work and entrance requirements, etc., are comprehensively treated.

Part II of the volume is a complete directory of teachers and others connected with educational work in China and a third section of the book contains a list of schools, colleges and universities arranged according to provinces, with statistics.

CHINA RADIO IS UPHELD BY U.S.

Hughes' Note To Peking Reasserts U. S. Open Door Policy; Supports Federal Contract

Washington, July 9.—Charles E. Hughes, Secretary of State, announced today that the United States continues to regard the Open Door policy as a fundamental principle.

The opportunity for making this statement was given Mr. Hughes in the shape of a query addressed to him by the Chinese Government, asking whether the United States Government intends to support the contract between the Federal Telegraph Company, an American corporation, and the Chinese Government in spite of the opposition of three other Powers.

The reply of the American Secretary of State was sent to Peking on July 1 and made public on July 9. It is couched in plain terms. As Mr. Hughes expresses it, the United States "does not intend to acquiesce in any arrangement which might purport to establish in favor of foreign interests any superiority of rights with respect to commercial or economic privileges in China."

Szechuen Students AreGiven Subsistence

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, July 23.—Szechuen gentry who petitioned the Central Government to have the Ministry of Communications set aside a part of the railroad revenue as a temporary loan to help finance the Szechuen students in Peking, were today notified that their request was granted. Szechuen financial conditions have been tight recently and the students from that province who have been attending the educational institutions in Peking have suffered somewhat.

PROTESTS SEIZURES

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 25.—General Sun Lieh-chun, the Tuchun of Kirin, requests the Government to protest to the Far Eastern Republic against the recent seizure of Chinese boats by Russian gunboats near the junction of the Amur and Sungari.

American-Oriental Bank Will Open Two Branches In Fall

Business Will Be Extended To Foochow And Chungking In September

The American-Oriental Bank will open branches at Foochow and Chungking, it was announced yesterday by F. J. Raven, president of the corporation.

Thomas C. Britton, treasurer of the American-Oriental Bank at Nanking and Szechuen Roads, Shanghai, will be in charge of the Foochow Branch, which will be known as the American-Oriental Bank of Fukien. Mr. Britton will be succeeded here by K. W. Irle, now assistant treasurer.

The Raven Trust Company and the American Asiatic Underwriters will operate in both Foochow and Chungking through the branches of the bank.

Indian Agitator Would Boycott Foreign Cottons

(Reuter's Service)

Bombay, July 25.—Mr. Gandhi and the Ali brothers are campaigning in the Bombay Presidency for the complete boycott of foreign cloth by August 1.

They are urging their audiences at numerous meetings daily to destroy foreign-made clothes or to send them outside of India for the relief of the poor.

Heroes Of British Army Honored With Statue By France

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, July 25.—On the plateau of La Chapelle there was dedicated on Sunday morning a monument to the memory of the soldiers of the Twelfth Division of the British Army who fell on that sector.

There were present at the ceremony General de Maistre and General Scott, who delivered addresses, in which they dwelt on the heroism of the Twelfth Division.

SINO-GERMAN BANK

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 24.—A proposal is on foot to reorganise the Deutsche-Asiatische Bank as a Sino-German concern. It is reported that Mr. Wu Hsing, former Commercial Attache in Berlin, is likely to take a prominant part in the undertaking.

MUNICIPAL LOAN OF 1921

(20,000 debentures of Tls. 100 each),

Rate of interest 8% per annum

The "Conseil d'Administration Municipale de la Concession Francaise de Changhai" hereby invite subscriptions for 20,000 debentures of Tls. 100 each, according to the resolution passed at their General Meeting on May 30, 1921.

The conditions on which the Debenture Certificates will be issued are:—

1°—The Debenture Certificates are transferable, and the person whose name is entered in the Register of Debenture Certificate or Certificates, shall alone be recognised and treated by the Council as the lawful and rightful holder and owner of such Debenture Certificate or Certificates.

2°—The loan will be redeemable at par (Tls. 100) in not less than 10 years and not more than 30 years, from 1st July, 1931 and according to the figures determinated by the Council.

3°—The loan will bear interest at 8% per annum, payable on the 30th day of June and 31st of December in each year, when interest warrants will be issued to the registered owners.

4°—The property and income of the Municipality, deducting those which serve as security provided in the Municipal Loans of 1903, 1911, 1914 and 1916 are the security for the repayment of the money advanced and for the interest thereon in the present loan.

The Members of the French Municipal Council are not personally liable in any way for the payment of either principal or interests.

5°—Applications for debentures will be received at the Secretary's Office, Rue du Consulat.

A cheque representing the amount of debentures asked for must be deposited at the same time.

P. LEGENDRE,
39234 Secretary.

China's Stake In The Pacific Conference

BY T. I. ZUNG

(A student at St. John's University)

THE forthcoming Pacific Conference, proposed by President Harding of the United States, who intends to invite all the independent nations bordering the Pacific to discuss the question of disarmament and the future problems of the Far East, is absorbing world wide interest.

Inasmuch as China is one of the most important of the Pacific nations and the future problems of the Far East will mainly arise from her soil, it is natural that she should of all nations be the most interested. It is therefore imperative that she should participate in the conference on equal terms with other nations, insofar as her very destiny will be involved in its decisions. The student population of China have on the whole always had the best interests of their country at heart, and though we regret to say sometimes mistaken they have on all occasions attempted to contribute their share of public opinion on the great questions before the government. On the present issue, the students have not been reticent.

Exact information with regard to the nature and scope of the conference is at present wanting, but, from what we have been able to gather, its aims are principally to arrive at an agreement among the nations of the Pacific to cease from competitive armament and to deal with such outstanding problems of the Far East as the Shantung question. That China's interests will be vitally affected is further shown by the fact that China's complete control over her postal service and the extraterritorial rights of foreigners probably will be considered at the conference.

It is natural to inquire, since the memory of the Versailles Conference is still fresh in our minds, whether a better fate awaits China in the coming conference. But the essential difference between the two conferences can be readily understood. The Versailles conference was a post-war conference, assembled for the specific purpose of making peace with vanquished nations, and to deal with all the problems arising from the war. There were secret treaties made during the war which bound the Allies at the conference table. Thus the Shantung question fell through.

The conference under question, however, is of a totally different nature. It is called in the days of peace, for the primary purpose of settling such questions as we are principally interested in. The fact that the proposal has been initiated by America may add a sentimental element to our fervor, in view of the traditional friendship between the two nations, but it also makes a practical argument for our acceptance of the invitation. At the Paris Conference, America, in her effort to help China to obtain justice, was backed down by other Powers which found themselves committed to support certain selfish interests. In the present instance, America will no longer be so handicapped and the interests of the other participants of the conference, such as Australia, being at one with America's, it is reasonable that we should indulge ourselves in a more sanguine mood.

Since the birth of the League of Nations, many of our countrymen have looked up to it as the ultimate power that will make for justice—to restore Shantung to its rightful owner. But the League has lost, and is losing, more and more credit. Of its avowed purposes and objects, little has been accomplished. America has not entered the League. Moreover, in proportion as the scope of the League widens, it becomes less capable of dealing with one particular question in all its phases satisfactorily. To many members of the League, the word Shantung may be merely a geographical expression. Not so with the Pacific Conference. Due to territorial propinquity and frequent intercourse, America, Japan and China, the most important components of the conference, have their interests very closely interwoven. What happens to one cannot be a point of indifference to the other two. Then being closely related, they understand one another—their difficulties, their advantages and disadvantages—well, to the end that a question may usually be settled in a manner satisfactory to all concerned.

The Anglo-Japanese Alliance has been a most obnoxious treaty to us. It has served to strengthen mutually British and Japanese spheres of influence in China. The attitude of the forthcoming Pacific Conference towards the alliance will exert a great influence upon its renewal or abrogation. If our delegates can so present the case at the conference as to make the harmful effects of that compact upon our national life clear to the world, the alliance will receive a death-blow.

At this supreme crisis, when our national existence itself hangs in the balance, the present state of dissension in our country is indeed deeply to be deplored. It is essential that our delegates at the conference should present a united front, if their mission is to be achieved at all. While partisan rancor and political differences may prove an element of discord between the North and South, it is hoped that in point of the future welfare of their country, they are at one.

The personnel of the delegation is also an all-important question. W. W. Yen, Wellington Koo, Wu Ting-fang and C. T. Wang have been proposed as the most fitting men for the position. Yen and Koo are to represent North, and Wu and Wang, South; but at the conference, they are of course to work in harmony.

If the Pacific Conference should prove a success, it would create a bond of closer friendship between America and the nations of the Far East, such as has not existed before. This bond of friendship will eventually become a strong guaranty of the future peace in the Orient. As disarmament is the chief aim, Japan's foreign policy might take a definite turn as a result of the conference. She may, if she wisely forsees the matter, desist from such aggressive military exploits as the Siberian expedition. It is also probable that as a consequence of the conference, a better international understanding between America, Japan and China will be engendered, and the strained relations between Japan and China with mutual concessions and with the wise and temperate mediation of the United States, will, as a natural and logical sequel, be peacefully adjusted.

SUMMER READING

Education seems to be divided into seasons around this neck-of-the-jungle. Literature turns from red-flannelly romances of fire-sides to porous-knit love at seaside.

Publishers are putting out nice, cool books with B. V. D. plot, will ventilated characters. Folks don't like to think much in hot weather. Summer literature is insurance against brain fever. Just right for idiot in hammock.

Average plot for Summer novel: Blakely Gildersleeve, handsome lootenant in navy, is accused of palming olives at officers' banquet. He resigns his membership in New York Aquarium. Hires taxicab which is wrecked in South Sea Island. Meets beautiful high-caste Hindu girl. He falls in love at first sight, but takes second look. Her uncle is cellar pirate, disguised as plumber. The female of the speakeasy is more deadly than the male. They are going to hang most of Gildersleeve's neck to palm trees they sing about, when suddenly—Boom! Boom! Boom!

It's the battleship Oregon.

Boys, we are saved.

The nicest part about Summer book is that it is so easy to close it. Plot is about as thick as lace curtain. But nobody wants heavy stuff. Pipe old man with full set of white whiskers hobbling into juvenile department of public library and asking for Horatio Alger, Jr.

Einstein plays with alphabetical building blocks during warm spell.

JAVA

Editor, The China Press

Sir: On Saturday last an article by Dorothy Dix appeared in these columns giving a very fine description of Java, particularly of the route to Garoet. It is certainly all she says in its wonderful riot of color and beauty.

Having been in Java many times and having visited fifty to sixty towns whilst traveling through on various occasions, I cannot in justice to the Dutch allow two or three remarks in the article in question to pass unchallenged, particularly in view of the great courtesy shown to me, as to all other visitors to Java, by the Dutch, who look upon themselves as hosts and act accordingly.

Now, one remark is that the Javanese are a poor, forlorn, crushed patient, unsmiling and over-worked race—even to the children: another is, that the Dutch have waxed fat through grinding the poor native. Had Dorothy Dix remained in Java long enough to verify her impressions these remarks I am sure would never have been made. Let me say from the start that the impression she gathered was a very unfortunate one and, I can say without fear of contradiction, a very erroneous one. The Javanese are anything but a crushed race. If anything, they are a lazy and indolent people, so much so that they are aptly referred to as "Children of the Sun." Because a man works in a paddy field, up to his waist in water, dirty and muddy, for so many hours a day, does not mean to say that he is working hard. It is disagreeable work, but after all it is the work he has chosen. He plods along through the day, having many rests—as you will notice if you watch him long enough.

I am a Britisher, and very proud of it. I think our rule in India is wonderful, and yet I say that we expect far more work and better work from our natives than the Dutch do from the Javanese. They excuse more than we do: they learn their language—we force our natives to learn ours. They work in some of the Javanese customs to make things easier for them, whilst we expect the Indians to adopt our customs. Let anyone go through the F.M.S. and they will see all the labor of Java re-acted in the fields through which they pass en route to Penang from Singapore. Remember this, the Dutch do not allow rickshas in Java, maintaining that it places the native on the level of a beast of burden—yet here we do it, and it is quite right and the first to object would be the ones who would lose their livelihood were the custom stopped.

I have been many times right through the East and seen it under all rules, and without hesitation I say that the Javanese have the easiest time of the lot. If anyone doubt it let him go to India, to Cochin China, to Burma or Siam, or any other part of the East, and then let them make a comparison. There is only one race on earth I think that lives more easily and that is the New Zealand Maori who does not even know the meaning of work.

The average Britisher blames the Dutch for being too easy-going, not for over-working the native. They are allowed the greatest freedom of speech and action. Anyone who has been for some time in Java will bear me out in this. May I point out that whilst many Dutch are rich so also are hundreds of Javanese. Yes, many Dutchmen do ride round in beautiful cars, but so do scores and scores of Javanese. Do we in China, riding by in our motors, feel that we are living on the crushed lives of the Chinese coolie whom we pass in the streets bent with hard work, for one of the lowest wages in the world?

Java is a wonderfully fertile country—it is a country which grows anything. It supplies foodstuffs lavishly to such an extent that, with eternal summer, the average native (if he does not wish to work) can build for himself a little hut under the trees and live at nature's door with the provisions which nature drops into his lap. There are very few poor in Java, and practically no beggars.

I cannot see why it is worse to expect the Javanese to work for a living than to expect any other native, or for the matter of that, any other human being. We were all put upon this earth to work in some degree, and no Javanese native ever worked as hard as the majority of the Chinese do right here in this city today.

A SCOTTISH TRAVELER

DEFENDS DUTCH RULE IN JAVA

Editor, The China Press

Sir: I felt after reading the article by Dorothy Dix in your issue of Saturday that I ought to write to you to explain as well as I could how unjust and untrue were some of the statements she made, and the letter appearing in this morning's issue reminds me that this explanation is due from me, if only for the sake of common decency.

If I had time to spare I could give you instance after instance showing you how marvellously efficient and just is Dutch rule in the Eastern Archipelago. I have seen every country in the Far East, with the exception of the Philippines, some of which I have crossed and re-crossed time and time again on foot, horseback, or by train and motor, and I have never during many years of constant travel seen anything to approach the sound commonsense rule of the Dutch East Indies. Nothing whatever is thrust on the native as Dorothy Dix would have us believe. They have their own headmen, their own schools in every little village, their own native teachers, their own magistrates, and they are interfered with in no way without the advice and consent of their own countrymen.

Dorothy Dix hopes that when she is colonised she will not have the Dutch or the German to do it for her. Evidently after five years close experience of the continent she still remains ignorant of the fact that a Dutchman is as much unlike a German as he is unlike an American. And anyhow even she will realise that there is a difference between herself and the Javanese native, and that what is good for the white is not always good for the brown, and vice versa. Enclosing my card, I remain, Sir,

Yours faithfully,
ENGLISHMAN.

PROSTITUTION IN SHANGHAI

Editor, The China Press

Dear Sir, I have read with interest Mr. Hua Kwan-foo's correspondence regarding the deplorable conditions of prostitution now existing in Shanghai.

The Municipal Council, I am of opinion, is unable to cope with the situation for the present, their attention being fixed on other things of minor importance as compared with this evil.

Then why does not the public of Shanghai come forth, seeing that the Municipal do not take a hand, and rid this city of this evil by forming a society?

If only some influential persons were to come forward and use their influence to establish such a society I am sure he will receive the heartfelt thanks of the community.

Of course it will be a hard task at first, but if the public were to give their support it will meet with success. Hoping that this evil will receive the attention of the Shanghai public, I remain, Dear Sir, Yours faithfully

J. MARCAL.

Changes Sex Of Animals; May Do It For Mankind

BY DR. CHRISTIAN CHAMPY

(Member of the Faculty of Medicine, University of Paris)

Paris, June 6.—The problem of the determination and the difference of sex which has baffled the world ever since the days of the crude beginnings of science is gradually being unravelled.

What prenatal influences determine the sex of the new-born babe?

Why are male children born males and why are females born females?

Can nature be influenced so that the mother may give birth to a male offspring if the parents so desire?

Can a female of the species be changed to the male of the species?

A few years ago the scientific world had to rest content with the mere asking of these questions; it was unable to offer any answer or clue to its solution. That there was a natural force operating and determining the sex of the unborn offspring, which some day would be discovered was conceded by the leading physicians of the world. But they had to be content with attributing the determination of sex to the Divine will.

I venture to predict that within less than a decade we shall discover the causes of the difference of sex, the determining force, and the possibility of so controlling this force that the sex of the future offspring may be regulated by the individual and society.

I venture to do so because I have just succeeded in changing the sex of several adult animals.

I have taken a male salamander, which was vigorous and healthy, and succeeded in changing it to the female of the sex. At a certain time of the year the male salamander is especially vigorous in its sex life.

At that stage I have taken it and, by depriving it entirely of food, found that its sex became neuter. After a short period, during which the salamander succeeded very well in living without food, I put the animal on a diet, and then gradually returned it to its normal supply of food.

AN AMAZING RESULT

The result was amazing. Instead of returning to its usual male sex, the salamander laid eggs. The sexual organisation had been completely revolutionised and the salamander now was, to all appearances and results, female of the species.

I consistently repeated the experiment with many salamanders, selecting examples that were vigorous and healthy in constitution and sexual organisation. Without exception each experiment repeated the same result. I have been unable to the present moment, however, to change the female of the species to the male of the species.

I then experimented with a number of small fishes. But my experiments here were not as completely successful owing to the difficulty of conducting the experiment with limited funds.

The laboratories in France are small and impoverished. If I had the opportunity of working in an American laboratory much greater progress could be made.

I intend this year to determine exactly what the influence is that changed the sex of the salamanders, and to elaborate a law which will be true for experiments on the higher vertebrata. I think I shall very soon be able to formulate a general law of the sexes and then try my experiment on human beings.

NEAR TO DISCOVERY

The male and the female of the species are not determined by divine influence, but by hitherto unknown physical and chemical laws, and I am very close to discovering its workings.

In experimenting with human beings it may, perhaps, be necessary to influence the embryon at a very early stage, and so determine the sex of the child before birth.

As is commonly known, the sex of the child is not determined for some time after conception. At that stage, then, it may be possible to influence the choice of sex. Perhaps by giving the parent a special diet, male and females may be created as the will of the parents direct.

Personally, I think it is a matter of biological chemistry. American scientists are the best in the world in the domain of biological chemistry, and it is to them that I owe a great deal of light and aid in the achievements I have accomplished to date.

Their work in this field shall have made it possible for man to determine and influence the sex of the unborn child.

On Mr. Edison's Scheme -:- By Ed Streeter

Dear Son: Have you heard of Mr. Edison's latest invention fer hirin' help? it's a great scheme as long as you don't need much help. He does it by askin' 'em questions. Not the usual questions about where they worked last an' why they didn't stay there, but a long list o' things tendin' to show a man's lack of intelligence an' to keep college graduates from slippin' into the factory in disguise.

If you want to work fer Edison you got to read your newspaper like an intelligent man; a dictionary in one hand an' an incyclopody in the other. The thery is that if a man ain't got the gumshun to learn the incyclopedy by heart the chances are he's too lazy to ever make a good window washer.

Mr. Edison don't try to find out what a man knows, but what he don't. It takes less time to get at. "You want a job?" says he, "All right. What makes shavin's curl? Why does a dog turn round three times before he lies down? Who was it said, 'My, ain't th' world a small place?' Was Beathoven bald or single? You don't know? You're even stupider than you look. Now let me ask you, young man, has a cow teeth in both jaws? You don't know that! You've passed by cows all your life an' you've never had the ambition to stick your head in one of their mouths an' find out! Hennery, show this sponge-head the door. His ignerance makes me suspect he must be a college professor."

It's depressin' how ignerant most falks is. They don't seem to care about anythin.' When you take a bath you just sit there, splashin' water on th' floor an' dreamin' what you'd do with a raise if the boss was fool enough to give it to you. Did you ever jump out o' th' tub an' lock up "Porcelin" in the dictionary to see where it comes from? Did you ever bite a piece out o' the soap to see what it is made of? Did you ever take it apart to find why it floated? Did you ever make any attempt to measure how much water your bath tub holds? Certainly not, cause you're a lazy good for nothin' like most other folks in this world.

'Tis is lucky thing that the great men o' histery got their names on the docket before Edison came along. Caeser crossed the Rubicon. I could 'a done that mysel'. I bet he didn't know how long it was, though.

An' think o' the sensation it would'a caused if somebody'd stopped Lincoln when he was makin' his Gettsburg address an' asked him to bound West Virginia an' who wrote Mona Liza.

Noah was just an old fogy who happened to be runnin' a ferry at the time o' the flood. If anybody'd asked him what zinc was made of I've no doubt but that he'd 'a scuttled th' boat an' gone down without a word of complaint.

Jonah was only a fellow what kept his head while passin' through a whale's mouth. He's been regarded as an authority on whales ever since. He claimed to have more inside dope about 'em than any other livin' man. The chances are, though, he never tried to find out the principal markets fer whale oil, an' he couldn't 'a told you how deep the ocean was just under where he was sittin'.

We're onto all those chaps now, though. They can't fool us no more. When they come stampin' into the Hall o' Fame to write their names on the wall the first man they run into is Edison. "Hold on there, Einstein, my boy," says he. "If you know so darn much tell me where the sardines come from. I thought so. An' p'rhaps you c'n tell Mr. Wells who discovered the peanut. Hold back there. What's the name? Kreisler? Never heard it, but p'rhaps you can te.. me the distance from South Bend, Indiana, to the moon. You can't? I'm not s'prised. Get out o' here, you loafers, an' peddle your brains to some piano-key factory."

Ezra Peabody thought the idea was fust rate when he read about it. So when he had to hire a new night watchman fer the factory he decided to give it a tryout. The fust fellow to answer his ad was Tim Casey, who used to be gateman at the railroad crossin' till they put on an extra train an' the work got too heavy fer him.

"I see be th' papers yez be needin' a night watchman," says Tim. "Can you tell me who invented the cotton gin?" says Ez, lookin' him straight in the eye. "Indade I can't," says Tim. "I ain't a drinkin' mon an' I wouldn't be pizenin' my sistem with this home made stuff if I was. But I see be th' papers yez are needin' a night watchman."

Ez marked him off on number one an' tried number two. "Who's th' father o' th' Seaman's Bill?" says he. "Sure, an' how should I know?" says Tim. "I nivver dhirty my hands with anyone else's family affairs. But I see be th' papers yez was needin' "—

"How tall is Popocatapetl?" says Ez, passin' on to three. "How th' divvil should I know?" says Tim "I nivver laid eyes on th' man. But I see be th' papers yez"——

"Where is the alimentary canal?" But right there Tim lost his temper. "Whereiver it is yez ought to be in it wid a stone round yer rid neck," says he.

"I'm afeared you don't pass," says Ez, lookin' disappointed.

Fer a while it looks as though he wasn't goin' to get anybody to take th' job. He almost hired one man what remembered that Ohio was somewhere near Indiana. Then one day a little chap whose face was whiter than his collar allowed he'd like to try.

He answered all the questions an' just for good measure recited the Declaration of Independence backward an' threatened to sing th' third verse o' th' Star Spangled Banner. Ez took him to 'fore he had a chance.

He didn't work out so good as might 'a been expected, though. The fust night he took th' job he was sittin' leanin' against th' factory, lookin' up some statistics to see who was th' fust man to kipper a herrin' when Tim Casey come along.

"Who be yez?" says Tim. "I'm th' new night watchman," says he.

"What're ye watchin'?" says Tim. "I don't know," says he. "I fergot to ask."

"Did yez pass ye'r exams?" says Tim. "Certainly," says he.

"Then pass that," says Tim, an' bounces a piece of pavin' stone offen his head.

Ez has a man on the job now that couldn't tell you what the name o' th' factery was, but he's an awful good night watchman.

Pooch says Edison is gettin' up these questions to make men think when they go after a job. If you want my private opinion, though, it seems to me that Mr. Edison is look'n' fer somethin' that'll relieve him o' th' necessity o' thinkin' hissel'. Yours questionin'ly,

Amos A. Amesby, Fath. \

On Making Sure

There is nothing like making sure where one's health is concerned. Good health is the best guarantee that Life shall be a success. Now it is well-known that digestive disorders are the cause of more cases of ill-health than any other class of ailment. The digestive system is so extensive, so complex and so hard-worked, that its liability to derangement is not astonishing. Happily, however, many digestive ailments can be easily remedied. Happily, too, many digestions need never go wrong. You can make reasonably sure that your digestion will not fail you, even under trying conditions, if you get into the excellent way of taking Beecham's Pills. This "Wonderful Medicine"—as it has been called—does really work wonders with the digestive system. Beecham's Pills impart tone to the stomach, regulate the action of the liver and kidneys and gently stimulate the bowels into healthy activity. Get into the habit of making sure. Have recourse to Beecham's Pills at the first sign of digestive trouble. Make sure of your health by taking

Beecham's Pills.

SALT REVENUES ARE MULCTED BY PROVINCE GOVTS.

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, July 24.—Further evidence that the salt revenues are slipping away from the control of the Central Government was received in Peking today in the form of a petition from the salt merchants of Hunan.

While the salt revenue is supposed to be supervised by both Chinese and foreign inspectors and the funds paid directly to the Central Government, many provinces are holding back some of the revenues.

The salt merchants in Hunan have formed an organisation with Ching Chi-chang at their head to oppose the recent action of the Hunan Provincial Government in forcing a loan of $500,000 on them.

In addition to the heavy loan to which all salt merchants were compelled to subscribe, the provincial government has imposed special heavy taxes in order to raise funds for local administrative expenses.

The merchants declare that if this program keeps up indefinitely they will soon be compelled to quit the business and take up their commodities that will be more profitable.

At the time of a proposed reorganisation of the Salt Gabelle police last winter, it was said that if all the revenues were turned into the Central Government, the income would be increased by more than $15,000,000 a year. Now that more and more of the revenue is being retained by the local governments, the Government is finding itself seriously annoyed because of the probable effect of the foreign loans that are caused by the salt revenue.

JAP CONTROL IN SHANTUNG

The salt business of Shantung is now a Japanese business in which the Chinese have little or nothing to do, according to the reports of the Chung Mei News Agency's investigators. Most all of Shantung's salt is shipped to Japan or by Japan to other points in the Far East and sold for high prices. Of course the Japanese only are benefitted.

When the Germans leased the Kiaochow territory they transported salt to Tsingtao for food purposes only and in small quantities. The Chinese were permitted to continue their salt business as before.

When the Japanese took over the territory they began developing the salt business according to their own plans. Salt furnishes one of the big revenues in Japan and the Japanese found an excellent opportunity in Tsingtao.

The Japanese now sell all the salt to those towns in which Japanese have settled and in addition are shipping 4,500,000 piculs of common salt out of the country annually. As the principal income of the Chinese Government is from its salt and railways, the Chinese are suffering from the inroads on the business. Added to the shipments of common salt are those of refined sodiumchloride for chemical purposes.

Salt marshes have been developed all along the Shantung coast and while some Chinese are employed, the Chinese do not administer any of the fields.

TO BREAK BRIDGE

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 23.—During the military operations against Korean outlaws in Chientao, the Japanese constructed a light bridge across the Tumen River, with a view to facilitating military transport. Since the Japanese troops have been withdrawn and will shortly be replaced by a Chinese police force, General Chang Chiao-ching, Military Commissioner of Chientao, has telegraphed the Government to request the Japanese to have this bridge between Chinese and Korean territory removed.

PARLIAMENT TO SIT AGAIN FOR IRISH QUESTION

Government Contemplates Session In December If Negotiations Succeed

TO PASS RAILWAY BILL

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 26.—In the House of Commons today, Mr. Austen Chamberlain expressed the hope that Parliament would be prorogued on August 26, but he foreshadowed the possibility of its being summoned in November or December to pass legislation necessary to give effect to the Irish settlement.

He announced the intention of the Government to pass the Railways and Safeguarding of Industries bills, and the measure repealing the Agriculture Act.

Arguing against an Autumn session, Mr. Chamberlain emphasised the hard work of Parliament, and especially the strain on the Government and its departments.

Referring to possible objections on the subject of the Irish negotiations, he said that, so far as the Government could see, in the most hopeful contingency the agreement between the various parties could not have reached a point at which it could be embodied in legislation at an early date.

The Government at best contemplated the possibility of summoning a new session early in December or in the last week of November to deal with the Irish question before Christmas.

Another contingency, he said which it was devoutly prayed might not be realised, was the failure of the negotiations. In that case, Parliament must know before the prorogation what prospects there were, in order to enable the necessary decisions to be taken.

I'll Say It's Hot! But Think Of Poor Basra And Get Cool

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 26.—Advices from Basra state that a record heat wave has been experienced there, resulting in many deaths among the British, Indians and Arabs. The maximum temperature in the shade has averaged 124 degrees for over a fortnight, the highest being 129 degrees on the 16th instant.

The Old Timers had a great innings yesterday, prodding unctuously into the past for references to days of sulphurous memory calculated to spoil the griffin's impression that he was experiencing a real hot day. The mercury stood at 100 yesterday. But back in August, 1892, as the pioneers will, and do, tell you, there was a day when the tube was colored all the way up to the 102.9 mark, and only three years or so ago 101 was registered.

These are sweetly consoling thoughts for most of us. But some may fail to find them solacing, and to these the hyther theory is recommended. The application of the hyther system consists in taking statistics of temperature and humidity and juggling them so as to bring about a result in terms of bodily discomfort. It is possible, if not probable, by this process to prove that though the thermometer reads 117 in the shade one has no right to feel wilted.

The formula of the hyther system has somehow got mislaid. It was proffered by THE CHINA PRESS during the hot spell of July, 1914, but seems not to have caught on very well.

The hyther system was discovered by meteorologists and is described as "a climatic scale graduated according to intensity of discomfort." The intensity of discomfort is calculable up to the figure 10, that being regarded as the limit of human endurance. A local meteorologist contends that the hyther computation yesterday resulted in the figure 11.

FLEMING PLEA TO BE HEARD IN U.S. COURT TODAY

Attorney To Be Arraigned On Criminal Libel Charge Brought By Fessenden

Arraignment of Mr. William S. Fleming of the law firm of Fleming, Davies and Bryan on the charge of criminal libel for which he was held by U.S. Commissioner F. J. Schuhl will take place at 9:30 o'clock this morning in the United States Court for China before Judge C. S. Lobingier. If the trial does not take place today the date when it will be held will be fixed by Judge Lobingier after the defendant enters his plea in answer to the charge.

The charge that Mr. Fleming will answer today in the United States Court for China is the one made on complaint of Mr. Stirling Fessenden of the law firm of Fessenden and Holcomb. This is based upon assertions Mr. Fleming is alleged to have made in a letter addressed to Mr. E. W. Wilson, General Manager of the Philippine National Bank, the text of which was published in THE CHINA PRESS yesterday in the report of the preliminary hearing.

By reason of a development of yesterday no preliminary hearing will be held in connection with the second charge of criminal libel that was filed against Mr. Fleming by Mr. Manuel Concepcion, Assistant General Manager of the Philippine National Bank. An information identical with the one that had been filed previously before U.S. Commissioner Schuhl was filed late yesterday before the United States Court for China and the effect of this is that the case will be called in the United States Court for China without a preliminary hearing.

Balance Of Trade Now Favors France

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, July 26.—For the first time since the war, a favorable balance in France's foreign trade has been revealed in the statistics for the first six months of 1921. Imports during that period totalled 10,500,000,000 francs (16,000,000 tons) and exports totalled 10,750,000,000 francs (7,336,000 tons). Imports show a decline of 10,000,000,000 francs (6,000,000 tons) as compared with last year.

Krasnoschekoff, President Of Far Eastern Republic, Tells Aims In Interview

Head Of Chita Government In Statement To Dr. A. E. Zucker Asserts That Communism Has Failed In Russia

BY DR. A. E. ZUCKER
(Union Medical College, Peking, who is spending his vacation in Siberia for The China Press)

Chita, July 15.—I heard this morning that Krasnoschekoff, President of the Far Eastern Republic, was going to leave at nine this evening for Moscow. I had the promise of a long interview with him for early next week, but because of the sudden change in his plans I sent him a note requesting him to grant me half an hour of his time, and his secretary brought back the reply that he would be free at six. Accordingly, at the appointed hour I went to see the man who since the beginning of the Far Eastern Republic has been an active leader and who was elected this spring by the Constitutional Assembly as the Chairman of the Government, an office that corresponds to that of the president in the other republics.

Alexander Mikhailovitch Krasnoschekoff was born in Southern Russia about forty years ago. On account of revolutionary agitation he was forced to leave the land of the Tsar and he went to America when he became a student at the University of Chicago. He took first his A. B. degree and then specialised in law taking the degree of J. D. On the outbreak of the revolution he returned to Russia. His appearance is prepossessing, he is well built, has a large head with dark hair thinning out a bit, is clean-shaven, and his face expresses intelligence and thoughtfulness. He is Jew by birth and a Communist by party.

WHAT GUARANTEES

I told him that I did not wish to take up a great deal of his time, but that there were four questions that I should like to have him answer. The first one was, what guarantees they could give that an American business man who would take up a mining or forestry concession in the Far Eastern Republic would not after five or fifteen years lose his entire investment through confiscation if the country would once more turn communistic instead of recognising private property as it does now.

"I shall say in the first place, what guarantees can America give that she will not become communistic."

"Well, I'll grant it's a matter of relative risk in both cases, but most people are willing to take the risk in the case of America. Our president and a majority of congress are not yet members of the Communistic Party. And besides, America has large investments overseas which other nations could seize in exchange for what they would lose to an American Soviet Government. And then, you have already confiscated, we never have."

"Certainly there is a vast difference. I should say the best and really the only guarantee we can give is that communism has failed in Russia. Radical communism is being given up there and it is on the wane everywhere. Our constitution guarantees free trade and the right of holding property, and as you may have observed in your two or three weeks in Chita, we are living up to our constitution. Every day we are becoming more and more capitalistic, and every new factory established here will tend to strengthen capitalism. I am a Communist and shall probably remain one to the end of my days, but we have learned to realise that communism is not a thing to be established immediately, that it has moved into the very, very dim future, a matter of centuries.

WANTS LAND USED

"Another thing that we have learned is that communism cannot be established in a peasant country, and especially not among Siberian peasants who are like American farmers with a thousand to five thousand acres in their possession. Here it is absolutely impossible. We have made all land the property of the state, that is just as in America much unexplored or uncultivated belongs to the government, we want no foreign government to hold land within our boundaries, we want no land

CONFERENCE ON WHITE PLAGUE WELL ATTENDED

Thirty-Nine Countries Send Representatives To London Meeting

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 26.—The world's experts on tuberculosis assembled at Westminster today for the second international conference. Thirty-nine countries were represented, in addition to the United Kingdom, the Dominions, the League of Nations and the League of Red Cross Societies.

Professor Sir Robert Philip, of Edinburgh University, presided.

A message of welcome from the King was read. Lord Curzon, in a speech of welcome on behalf of the Government, said that the campaign against tuberculosis, which illustrated the growing brotherhood of mankind, had been one of the chief sufferers of the war.

Sir Alfred Mond, Minister of Health, in describing the British Government's steps to deal with tuberculosis, said that 4,000 additional beds had been installed in sanatoria and hospitals during the past two years, and that 3,500 more would be installed during the next two years.

Mauretania Fire Is Out After A Second Flaming Of Embers

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 26.—The embers of the fire on board the Mauretania blazed up at midnight, and the fire was not extinguished till the early hours of this morning. The damage is estimated at £50,000. It will be some months before the Mauretania will again be fit for sea.

JAPAN WILLING TO TAKE PART IN CONFERENCE

Formal Notification To Be Sent Washington With Hope For Agenda

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 26.—Reuter's Agency learns from an authoritative Japanese source that the inference from the absence of a reply from America regarding the Pacific questions is that probably there has thus far been no definite program in the minds of the statesmen concerned.

In the meantime, the Japanese are endeavoring to expedite matters, are considering every likely question under the heading of Pacific, and will formulate their own policy on each subject.

The Japanese consider that the question of China and Australasia do not exhaust the Pacific question. They point out that there remain important matters regarding Mexico and the Dutch Indies, in which Japan is considerably interested, whereas the fact that neither Mexico nor Holland has been invited to the conference seems to suggest Japan's being summoned to a sort of international bar, limited to questions regarding China.

The Japanese are of the opinion that the utmost clarity is essential; otherwise, the conference is calculated to do more harm than good.

Cheero! Einstein, Here Is New Problem--the Chinese Li

By Bruce Hopper

EINSTEIN has articulated the relativity of action in the cosmos. It remains for a genius of equal magnitude to solve the relativity of the Chinese "li," a figure of speech which means anything from a stiff pull up the hill to a swim in the river.

To the Chinese, born to make and unmake puzzles, the li is a unit of measurement which expresses both time and distance. To the foreigner, however, it is the handmaiden of Chaos, for nothing is so bewildering and impossible of solution as gauging distance by the Chinese li, the only unit used in western China.

That king of vagabondia, Robert Louis Stevenson, would have found the delight of his gypsy soul in Yunnan and Szechuen. He could stroll indefinitely with his pipe and stick, with no pace-setter to annoy him, nor tin cans to remind him of manufacturing cities from which he escaped. Should the promptings of hunger, or anxiety about settling down for the night, cause him to ask, "How far, oh worthy peasant, to such and such a place," the reply would be so vague, and the kind of li implied so hazy, that he would be confused even as to the direction he took in leaving the former camp.

That would immensely please R. L. S. It only maddens the hustling kind of pedestrian.

For the li is one of those mathematical variables which approach zero as a limit in one direction, and infinity in the other. Knowledge of the Greek stade, the Roman mile or the continental kilometer, use of a pedometer, a theodolite, and barometric instruments only serve to deepen the fourth dimensional mystery of the li.

WHAT IS CHINESE LI?

No one knows exactly. The traveler in Yunnan is told there are three li to the mile, and that he can walk ten li an hour. Coming to Szechuen there are two and a half li to the mile of the pedometer. That is the first impression. The next upsets entirely the early figures, and one has to begin the puzzle over again. It is never solved.

Two points might be forty or fifty li apart according to which one of two parallel roads the traveler takes. Such is true of the lake plain between Hsia Kuan and Talifu in Yunnan. The missionaries say the towns are ten miles apart by Major Davies' survey. The Chinese estimate the distance at 30 li by the dirt in hot weather, and 35 by the stone highway. In wet weather the dirt road is 45 li, and the stone only 30. The two roads are exactly equal in length.

Not only season, pavement, obstacles, and ascent or descent affect the variation of the li, but the direction the traveler is taking. He may climb a long, tortuous divide and descend to the same altitude on the other side. To retrace that distance may involve covering many more li, or less, he is never able to tell.

HOW TO FIGURE IT

The traveller begins to take account of the passability of the road, the mud, the hot stones, and the steepness and believes he is on the verge of the great discovery. His logarithms and trignometric calculations enable him to work out a nice sliding scale of values to the li. The system perfected, he checks up his mileage with the chief mafoo's figures on the li for the day's journey.

Again the dope is upset. Inquiry brings out the information that the number of toll stations at which the caravan was forced to stop during the day lengthened the li schedule.

Upon reaching the river the li varies with the speed of the rapids, the height of the cliffs, and the hostility or friendliness of the natives along the shore.

And thus with the water hazards and bunkers of the pay stations, tea house halts, and delays at the ferry, the game of estimating the Chinese li becomes pleasantly like a well known pastime played with clubs.

Vagueness breeds obscurity. The people of western China, wild tribe and Chinese alike, know as little about the location of the cities and direc-

WU PEI-FU, MYSTERY MAN PUSHING ARMY INTO HUPEH, WIRES WANG 'DONT WORRY'

British And American Warships Standing By Cleared For Action At Hankow To Protect Foreigners; Troops Pour Into Wuchang; Crisis Grows

Hankow Bulletin

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Hankow, July 27 (4:40 p.m.)—A brief message from Changsha reports that the city was looted and partially burned on the night of the 25th.

This news is interpreted here to mean that disturbances have arisen through an attempted coup to oust Chao Heng-ti.

No consular dispatches have come through and the situation of the foreign community is unknown, although the belief is expressed in official circles that they are unharmed.

The foreign population of Changsha totals about 200.

Canton Bulletin

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Canton, July 27 (7:10 p.m.)—Sun Yat-sen, President of the South China Republic, has issued orders to the military leaders of the South Western provinces to relieve the Province of Hupeh from the militarism under which it now lies. Szechuen and Hunan brigades have been ordered to advance at once.

Sun Yat-sen in person is preparing to lead part of his army towards Hankow as the first step in a march on Peking. A declaration of war upon the Hsu Shih-chang Government is expected at any moment.

Crisis At Hankow Grows As Wu Takes Possession

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Hankow, July 27, 9 p.m.—The U.S.S. Albany and Quiros have cleared decks for action for the purpose of protecting the foreign community. The situation is one of great confusion. Every train and every boat arriving is loaded with artillery, infantry and munitions.

It is estimated that over 50,000 troops have arrived within the last forty-eight hours, and the difficulties of untangling them, getting them into camps, transporting them across the river on their way South multiply every hour.

It looks like a huge military decision is at hand. All factions are awaiting a definition of the position of General Wu Pei-fu, chief aide of Tsao Kun, who is the leader of the Chihli faction. General Wu Pei-fu is the man who led his troops from south of Changsha to the walls of Peking last summer and drove Premier Tuan and the Anfu party out of power.

On Sunday General Wu ordered the Kin-Han Railway to deliver fifty cars at Honanfu for the transport to Hankow of part of his 8th Division. On Monday he countermanded this order. On Tuesday he instructed the Kin-Han Railway to provide him with all available cars.

That is the situation. His troops are pouring in and nobody knows what he is going to do. He may make peace, or he may make war. In any event it is evident that he dominates the situation. Personally he has not made his appearance, but his most trusted division commander is here with the 8th Division and is making all arrangements for the arrival of his chief.

Tuchun Wang appears to be hopelessly discouraged owing to lack of support by the Peking Government and his abdication is possible at any moment.

Experts here believe that Wu Pei-fu is moving slowly in order not to arouse the jealousy of Chang Tso-lin, who has privately instructed his henchman, the Tuchun of Anhui province, to make some countermoves in order to offset Wu Pei-fu.

The deliberation with which General Wu's troops are moving shows either great confidence or a certain hesitancy before openly committing the Chihli party to a definite split with Chang Tso-lin, the Mukden war lord, who is now organising the Urga expedition and who is known to have warned Tsao Kun, the Chihli leader to avoid Southern commitments at this time.

It is evident that the Kuomingtang party is very active here. Cantonese agents are making a strong attempt to capture the situation.

It is reported that Kiangsi and Kiangsu Tuchuns have wired offers of help to Tuchun Wang.

Shall Do Best To Protect Foreigners, Says Tuchun

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Hankow, July 27 (5:15 p.m.)—"I shall do my best to protect foreigners in the Wuhan cities," is the not very comforting assurance given by Tuchun Wang Chan-yuan to the consulates here. He also made a request that foreign gunboats do not proceed up the river at present. Commanders of the foreign gunboats here flatly told him that they would not be hampered and would take any action necessary to protect foreign lives and property.

Two British gunboats, the Tsay and the Woodcock, immediately proceeded to Yochow, leaving the U.S.S. Quiros and some Chinese gunboats lying off Hankow bund with their decks cleared for action.

While the Peking-Hankow railway service still is normal, with the exception of slight delays, the Wuchang-Changsha line is entirely out of commission.

Neighbors Turn Deaf Ear To Hankow Tuchun's Plea

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Hankow, July 27 (5:15 p.m.)—Tuchun Wang Chan-yuan suspecting the fidelity of his second division, that which got out of hand a few weeks ago and looted Wuchang, is placing the regiment of General Chin Yun-ao, brother of the Premier, which arrived from Honan yesterday, in charge of the most important garrison of Wuchang. The Hanyang Arsenal also is heavily guarded.

Wang finds the tuchuns of neighboring provinces supremely indifferent to his plight. Chen Kwan-yuen, Tuchun of Kiangsi, says he will send no assistance but offers to mediate with Szechuen commanders who are making a hostile demonstration. Tuchun Chao Ti of Honan has sent a contingent of troops, but so few as to indicate that his action is merely one of saving face.

Wu Pei-fu on whom all hopes of Wang are centered has sent

Tuchun Wang's Position Grows More Precarious

the harried Tuchun Wang two telegrams the purport of which is "don't worry." As for troops, he has sent only a few to the Hupeh border to await developments in the Hunan situation.

The Kwangtung leaders, fearing that Chao Heng-ti is not wholeheartedly supporting them are encouraging his local rivals to carry out a coup looking to his removal.

As for the Hupeh situation, the overthrow of Wang Chan-yuan is hourly expected and is foreshadowed in a message from the foreign commission to the consulates stating that since the threatened strife is merely over the matter of removing Tuchun Wang, the solution is not difficult.

Troops Pour In But No Fighting Is Reported Yet

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hankow, July 26.—Troops are continuing to pour into Hankow, and the total is expected to reach 60,000, comprising those from Honan, Chihli and Shantung.

The China Merchants' steamer Kweilee has been requisitioned for trooping, and native launches are endeavoring to avoid being commandeered.

The Southerners are also busy transporting troops. The Wuchang Red Cross has been ordered to hold itself in readiness to deal with 2,000 wounded at any time.

There is still no news of any actual fighting, although a clash appears to be inevitable. The price of rice is rising locally. The people of Hankow continue to regard the situation placidly, and the influx from Wuchang has abated.

Kwangtung's Advance Is Slowed; Stiff Resistance

Canton, July 26.—The two Kwangs campaign has taken a turn less favorable to the Cantonese.

The latter admit that they are meeting with considerable difficulty in dealing with the Kwangsi forces, which are offering a stout resistance at various points, maintaining in effect a form of guerilla warfare.

The alleged "capture" by the Cantonese of a series of Kwangsi towns palpably rests on an insecure basis, as the Cantonese themselves concede.

Wu Pei-fu Sends Troops But Remains At Base

Present arrangements do not indicate that General Wu Pei-fu will proceed to the scene of activities. Although his troops are mobilised for eventualities, Wu considers it imprudent for the present to leave his base in Chengchow, Honan, when developments may be expected any moment in Shensi, where the forces of the former Tuchun, Chen Shu-fang, are by no means vanquished.

Peking is also suspicious of Wu's future movement and believes that some flattering offers of the South would induce him to change his allegiance, so the Central administration is doing its best to hold Wu in his present position and is promising him the Inspector-Generalship of Shensi, Kansu and Sinkiang when the Shensi situation is well in hand.

Yet Peking does want to utilise his troops in the present fight in Hupeh. Half of Wu's troops, therefore, a division strong, has now been marched to Hupeh under Siao Yao-nan. Tsao Kun, Wu's superior, has been ordered to despatch other forces to aid Wang Chan-yuan, whose position both the Chihli and Fengtien factions seek to maintain for fear of a hitch in the equilibrium of power. No matter how popular opinion favors the appointment of Wu as Wang Chan-yuan's successor, Fengtien will oppose the action for the simple reason that his appointment would enlarge the sphere of influence of the Chihli faction.

Wang Vainly Wires To Peking For Assistance

Meanwhile, Wang has sent five telegrams to Peking within five days, asking for military and financial aid. Knowing full well that his position, name and wealth are at stake, he has decided to start a desperate fight against the invading army. His present plan is to organise a Hunan expeditionary force, consisting of the Eighth Mixed Brigade, the Honan Mixed Brigade under Chao Chi, and two Shantung Mixed Brigades now in his province.

According to his report, the Hunanese are advancing upon him in three different directions: the central column approaches Hupeh by way of Yochow under the command of Lu Tiao-ping; the right flank, which is under the direction of Yi Kai-hsin, advances by way of Pingkiang; while the left flank, under Chen Chia-yu, starts from Nanhsien and Sinhsiang. The commander-in-chief of the entire army is Sun Yo-keng, a henchman of General Chiang Cho-ping, former Chief of Staff of the Republican army and a Kuomingtang leader.

Tuchun Chen Kwan-yuan of Kiangsi reports that he is sending the 23rd brigade to advance upon Changsha, the Hunan capital.

China Merchants Have No Word Of Seizure

No confirmation for the telegraphic news of the requisition of the Kweilee was received at the head office of the China Merchants' Steam Navigation Co., Ltd., here yesterday. Captain H. Mackinnon, marine superintendent of the company stated that if it had been requisitioned, the Hankow office certainly would have wired the head office here.

There has been considerable movement of troops between Hankow and Ichang, between which points the steamer plied and she has been carrying the troops as passengers, according to recent letters received by the superintendent from Captain J. Barrett, commanding the Kweilee. The usual transportation of troops by the ship, perhaps, has given rise to the above report, Captain Mackinnon says.

Szechuen Troops Move On Ichang In Force

Two divisions of Szechuen troops were reported to have moved to Ichang, according to the Chinese press yesterday.

Local Chinese papers also reported that the Tuchuns of Kiangsu and Anhui have asked permission to send troops for the relief of Hupeh.

Hankow wires report that one brigade of troops reached the Hupeh border on the 22nd and that the Hupeh 2nd brigade was ordered to halt their advance. The opposing forces are reported to have dug up the railway at Yang Lun Doong on the 23rd.

Wu is to lead two divisions to the aid of Hupeh. General Siau Yau-nan has left with troops from Tsungtingfu and Shuntefu. The Central Government has ordered the commander of the 2nd naval squadron to assist Hupeh in the defense of Sin Dee.

TENSION OVER SILESIA ENDED

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 26.—Reuter's Agency learns that as a result of the explanations exchanged between the British and French Governments, a very much better atmosphere has been created. There is reason to believe that the question of Upper Silesia is already approaching a settlement and that no further misunderstandings as regards the despatch of troops are likely to occur.

London, July 26.—It is officially announced that Lord Curzon and Mr. Balfour will attend the Supreme Council which meets on August 4. It is improbable that Mr. Lloyd George will attend, owing to the pressure of business in London.

The meeting is expected to be brief, and will deal only with the Silesian question.

(Reuter's Service)

Athens, July 26.—Officials reports state that the various Greek units delayed owing to the rapidity of the advance have now been co-ordinated, and show that the enemy has lost over three-quarters of his guns and forces in casualties, prisoners and deserters.

After consolidating the Afiun Kara Hissar--Kutahia—Eskishehr—Bilejik line, the northern and southern Greek armies have effected a junction, whereas the enemy's front is broken and his troops at Angora are cut off from his troops at Konia.

Constantinople, July 25.—The British prisoners at Angora have been transferred to Sivas as a preliminary to the evacuation of Angora.

COMPROMISE IS PERMITTED BANK

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, July 26.—The Commercial Tribunal has decided to grant the benefit of a compromise settlement to the Banque Industrielle de Chine. M. Pe[illegible]t has been appointed receiver.

Fossil Collection Delights Experts

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, July 23.—The collection of prehistoric remains of animals, fossils and other articles of scientific interest, made last spring by Professor J. G. Anderson, has arrived safely in Sweden. It is considered as one of the most important collections ever made in China and it is attracting wide attention among scientists. The collection was gathered mostly in Honan under the personal supervision of Professor Anderson. The shipment left China last April.

MARINE CHANGES ARE ANNOUNCED

China Merchants' Steam Navigation Company—Second officer of the Kwanglee, Mr. C. D. M. Geyson, transferred to the Kungping; second officer of the Hsinchang, Mr. W. Scouvsky, to the Hsinming; second officer of the Hsinming, Mr. J. B. Anderson, to the Kaho; Mr. A. Polydoroff appointed second officer of the Hsinchang; Mr. J. Cornochan to supernumerary second engineer of the Yushun; Mr. R. Alexandro appointed second engineer of the Kiangfoo.

Navy Y.M.C.A. Notes

Paul W. Brown, Executive Secretary of the Shanghai Navy Y.M.C.A. has gone to Chefoo to take charge of the Navy "Y" work there for the summer. He will relieve W. R. Durbin who saw the work well started at Chefoo but must give it up to take his deferred trip home to California.

Arthur Ellis, who has been helping Mr. Durbin at the Chefoo Navy "Y" has returned to Shanghai to take Mr. Brown's place at the Navy "Y" here until September.

The new Navy "Y" at Chefoo is doing splendid work for the American sailors stationed there for the summer months. They have very suitable houses and grounds to facilitate their work, having secured two large Standard Oil Company godowns with courts between, conveniently situated on the jetty. The rooms, brightly decorated with flags, are used for canteen, reading and writing rooms, music and dining rooms. In one of the courts outdoor moving pictures are given three evenings a week. In the middle of the court is a large platform for boxing matches and concerts. The other court is used for basketball games. Baseball grounds have been laid out in another part of the town. One night last week 600 sailors and a hundred townspeople witnessed boxing bouts and listened to a good concert. Players, singers and dancers from the crews have given other successful concerts.

Miss Shaub and Miss Willis from Shanghai and Miss Maddox from Tientsin, now connected with the Y.M.C.A., are doing much to provide special entertainment for the 'boys,' such as shore suppers, picnics and hikes to the hills. The "Y" has built and launched a large raft out from the best beach and here the sailors enjoy swimming every day. The foreign residents take a great interest in the sailors and their Y.M.C.A. home, sending many illustrated magazines to the reading room and giving their services at the "Y" concerts.

Mixed Court Jottings

A police raid led by Sub-Inspector Mackenzie upon a dwelling house at 2009 North Szechuen Road disclosed evidences of extensive opium selling and resulted in the arrest of a woman who was fined $100 in the Mixed Court yesterday. The police seized 16½ pounds of bulk raw opium and twenty small tins, three large tins and two jars of the drug and found $5,000 locked up in a cash box. The woman declared that the opium was for the personal use of her husband, who is at present in Canton.

Four Chinese have been charged with burglarising the home of Mr. D. Kahler, 11 Robison Road, and stealing $550 worth of property. The case was remanded one week for further investigation.

A machinist named Aun, from the steamer Erivan, appeared yesterday on charges of stealing two barrels of salt salmon, valued at $200, and of insubordination. He was remanded for trial by the Consular Body's Assessor, Mr. Ivanoff. The prisoner was taken into custody by Sergeant Murphy of the River Police.

Four Chinese were charged yesterday with theft of $699 from the Ichida Offset Printing Company, 4 Tsitsihar Road, and were remanded for trial by the Japanese Assessor.

The mention of the next town brings a chorus of contradictory figures: "more than 25 li, more than 70 li, too far, not too far, more far, little more far" and various other indications of intelligence.

With faith in his endurance the traveller should be able to go anywhere in western China, except the Lolo country, or upper Salween.

But let him not try to transpose Chinese li into miles or kilometers, for other men have gone mad in the attempt. The rest have failed.

Find Opium Here On Japanese Ship

Discovery of opium aboard a Japanese river steamer, just arrived from Hankow, started Customs officials here on a minute search of the ship. A quantity of the drug was found concealed in the ship's cargo, principally in a shipment of paper, and it is expected that much more will be discovered in the course of the overhaul of the cargo.

YOURIN RETURNS TO PEKING WITH OFFER OF TRADE

Minister Of Chita Govt. Has Favorable Reception At Chinese Hands

(Dalta News Agency)

Peking, July 26.—Mr. Ignatius L. Yourin, the Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Far Eastern Republic, arrived in Peking yesterday. A large number of diplomatic officials and correspondents were gathered at the station to welcome his return. Among them were representatives of the President, of the Cabinet, and of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. Interviewed by the Peking Leader, Mr. Yourin said:

"I come to Peking partly to discuss with the Chinese Government the concluding of a trade agreement and the Mongolian situation, and partly to renew my personal contact with the situation in China.

"I feel that most friendly relations between the two neighboring republics should obtain, and in order to do what I can to promote such relations I want to keep personally in touch with developments here in China."

Prior to coming to Peking Mr Yourin stopped at Mukden, where he was received by General Chang Tso-lin, with whom the Mongolian situation was discussed.

The Peking Daily News writing on Yourin's arrival in Peking, says editorially:

"The preposterous conduct that hailed Yourin's first entry into Peking is now forgotten in the light not only of personal acquaintance with the man, but of growing sympathy with the state of which he is an honored representative. In our opinion Chita has been long suffering in her dealings with China and we would here offer this as an excuse for the strong tone of Yourin's note to the Chinese Government.

SEE NEED OF SIBERIA

"Furthermore, since China commenced official negotiation with Yourin the attitude of other powers towards the younges Republic has undergone a very significant change. Several missions have been instructed to investigate conditions in Chita Nations eager for fresh source of raw materials cannot leave Siberia politically isolated, and they are fast coming to that realisation.

"Yourin should therefore find his path much easier than on the former occasion of his visit to Peking, especially if he persuades Chang Tso-lin as to the material advantage that will accrue to him upon a final settlement of the problems outstanding between the two countries, which would mean the withdrawal of Siberian troops from Urga. Reciprocity is the watchword of Chita's foreign minister, and, as we have said the application of this principle means more to China than subservience to the policy of any other nation."

German Missionary May Work Again In British Territory

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 26.—Replying to the Secretary of the World Alliance for the Promoting of International Friendship through the Churches, who recently wrote to the Colonial, Indian, and Foreign Offices, suggesting that German missionaries should be allowed to resume work in certain British territories, Mr. Winston Churchill, Colonial Secretary said the war showed that certain foreign societies and individuals were unable to prevent national instincts from influencing their conduct to a degree incompatible with their proper functions, and prejudicial to the security of the territories in which they were working.

Nevertheless, the reply stated, applications from individual German missionaries of unimpeachable antecedents for permission to enter the colonies would be considered, provided that they were under the control of a local British, Allied or associated subject, and were vouched for by a responsible British ecclesiastical authority.

The circumstances in mandated adjoining territories were, however, exceptional, and required a degree of supervision unnecessary elsewhere.

President Calls Red Cross And Health Service To Fight Pellagra

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, July 26.—President Harding has requested the public health and Red Cross officials immediately to investigate and ascertain how the Government can relieve the situation in the southern cotton belt arising from the epidemic of pellagra three. The President expresses the opinion that the epidemic and the consequent threat of famine are due to the impossibility of the people selling their cotton. This has caused a shortage of money, which has deprived thousands of the variety of food which is necessary to prevent pellagra.

Games Contribute To World Peace Says President

(Reuter's Service)

New York, July 26.—President Harding, in a letter expressing regret at his inability to attend the Anglo-American inter-varsity athletics, pays a tribute to "the fine and manly contest which has contributed to the promotion of those splendid relations between the United States and the United Kingdom which have served both countries for a century." The President expresses the hope that the American treatment of the British visitors will never fail to reciprocate the hospitality shown to Americans in the United Kingdom.

DON'T USE GOLD TO DESTROY US PLEADS SOVIET

Chicherin Objects To Funds In Foreign Lands Going To Emigrant Foes

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow (via Manchuli), July 21.—The following note of Mr. Chicherin, the Commissar of Foreign Affairs of Soviet Russia, to the Governments of Great Britain, France, Italy, United States of America, and others who form the League of Nations was published July 10, 1921:

"Authoritative organs of the press of different countries have published a declaration according to which a group of certain Powers, styling themselves the League of Nations, have established a special Commission for the purpose of affording material assistance to Russian emigrants. With this in view all interested Governments were invited to express their definite opinion regarding the proposal to utilise the funds of Government of Russia deposited in foreign countries. The Governments constituting the group styling itself the League of Nations are contemplating, without consulting the Government of Russia, to utilise these sums, belonging to the latter, to give assistance to its enemies. The Government of Russia, which is the real owner of the aforesaid sums, categorically protests against such an act of arbitrariness and violence on the part of these different Governments, which without its knowledge and consent are about to take possession of funds belonging to the Government of Russia.

SOVIET COMPLAINS OF HOSTILE POLES

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow (via Manchuli), July 20.—In a note to the Minister of Foreign Affairs of Poland, Mr. Chicherin, Commissar of Foreign Affairs of Soviet Russia, draws the attention of the Polish Government to repeated violations of the Riga Treaty by Polish military authorities who are assisting bandits in Poland hostile to the Soviet Republic.

The note demands the immediate establishment at Warsaw of a mixed Russo-Polish commission to be composed of representatives of Ukrainia, White Russia, Czecho-Slovakia and Poland for the purpose of drawing up lists of persons to be deported from Poland.

Marshals Removed From Seized Ships

(Reuter's Service)

New York, July 26.—Pending a judicial ruling on the injunction applied for by the United States Mail Steamship Company to restrain the United States Shipping Board from interfering with the operation of the company's ships—five of which have been seized on the ground of violation of contract and non-payment of various charges—orders have been issued to withdraw the United States marshals placed on board the ships seized.

Krasnoschekoff Tells Aims In Interview

"However, all land in the hands of peasants at the present time, even the surplus land, is guarantee to them. The form in which they hold it is a lease from the government which recognises inheritance and allows the land to pass to their children and grand-children. The same is true of land in the cities; the government can take land away from owners only just as in America by right of eminent domain, in which case the owner is compensated. But no one sell land or give it away to others than his children. We want to encourage the cultivation and use of the land, but we are against speculation in land, holding land out of use, and unearned increment."

PROPAGANDA QUESTION

"Is your government prepared to renounce completely all propaganda aimed at the destruction of the political and economic order of other governments?"

Yes. We have no propaganda of that sort whatsoever. As you will have noticed among the number of ministers there are quite a number who are not Communists and who would be unterly opposed to the encouragement of communism.

"In fact, what propaganda can we Communists make now that our doctrine has failed in Russia? We have great poverty and hunger in Moscow now and to ask other nations to imitate our example would not get us many converts. The only propaganda that we have is such which aims at the right of self-determination for the people of Eastern Siberia, the right for us Russians to live undisturbed within our own boundaries. Along these lines we appeal to the world for justice, while at the same time we realise that in the end it is only our own strength that can help us."

"You appeal for recognition for your state. How permanent will it be? It was founded for expediency, won't it pass away when expediency demands it? It would seem to be more permanent if you had the whole of Siberia instead of merely the provinces east of Lake Baikal shutting Russia off from the Pacific?"

DEPEND ON SOVIET

"Yes, it is true our state was founded for the sake of expediency, but so were many other states after the World War. How long do you think Poland or Czecho-Slovakia—shut off from the sea as they are—will last? Our independent existence depends a great deal on Soviet Russia. If the world will recognise that government we may join Greater Russia, that is quite possible. But at present we have a government of Eastern Siberia under a constitution suitable for this region and its population, and it would be extremely difficult to say how long there will be a need for a separate state here. You know that Soviet Russia is now decidedly swinging to the right toward our position.

"Of course, all Siberia would be a better unit, because economically it is a unit. For example, our mining industry is centered all around Lake Baikal, not only on our side of it. Russia is not a help to Siberia, it only takes from Siberia grain for example, and yet, as far as grain is concerned, our territory is not self-supporting, we have to depend on Manchuria. However, when our republic was organised the Soviet troops had penetrated up to Lake Baikal and our present territory was all that was left."

"And my last question is: 'what do you intend to make the chief source of income of your government?'"

ONE TAX ONLY

"We shall have a progressive income tax, which we should like to make our only tax. This tax can be paid in kind or in money, probably in the cities it will be paid mostly in money, while the peasants may prefer to pay in kind. It will be a tax that will aim to stimulate industry and production, not to penalise it, as has been the case in Soviet Russia. Before we can apply this tax we have to have a census.

"We are working on the census now and expect to have it finished by the time of harvest. Temporarily we have assessed various districts certain amounts which we leave to the local authorities to apportion. We expect that this taxation will realise 15 to 20,000,000 roubles before harvest time.

"We shall have indirect taxes temporarily only, perhaps the taxes on luxuries will remain. Our customs duties are preserved theoretically as they were in Tsarist times, only with China we have made a reciprocal arrangement. There are now no customs duties on goods coming from or sent to Soviet Russia. This is one of two conventions we have with Soviet Russia, the other is that trains go through from our territory to the other without having to be reloaded. But the main source of the income of our government we hope to make the profit from our industrial plants which we are now beginning to establish as far as our means allow. But, of course, we are badly in need of a foreign loan."

NO WOODEN NICKELS

After these touching words I wished Mr. Krasnoschekoff a good journey and a rapid improvement of his health which has been none too good recently. He wished me also a pleasant journey back to China and regretted that he had not been able to give me more of his time. He has a quiet, dignified manner, quite a contrast to that of Shatoff, the other "American" in the government, who on telling me good-bye lunged forward for a vigorous hand-shake, wished "good luck to you" and urged me not to accept wooden nickels.

The recent decision of the Moscow government is being taken by thinking and frank Communists as the signal of the failure of communism. The general run of Communists try to argue their defeat, just as many Christians argued that the World War was a proof of the success of Christianity in the Western world. I should like to contrast with the remarks Krasnoschekoff addressed to me on July 15, 1921, what he said to the Japanese journalist Tsukuda in December 1920. I quote from the Asian Review of January 1921: "Communism is still under trial and there is yet a long way before it becomes an established institution. I swear to you that our government will never enforce communism in the three Far Eastern Provinces. It is not that we are afraid of the Japanese protest, that we do not enforce it, but rather it is because we do not think its enforcement necessary."

CASTORIA

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells, which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying power, are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them wilfully with narcotics. Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

JOHN J. LEFFA, M. D., Cleveland, Ohio.

"I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy."
A. F. PERLEE, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"For several years I recommended your Castoria and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results."
EDWIN F. PARDEE, M. D., New York City.

"I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild, harmless effect and freedom from harm."
EDWARD PARDEE, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Your Castoria is a meritorious household remedy. It is purely vegetable and acts as a mild cathartic. Above all, it does no harm, which is more than can be said of the great majority of children's remedies."
VICTOR H. COFFMAN, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a pure and reliable medicine for infants and children. In fact it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."

Stubborn Case of Boils & Pimples

Our portrait is of Mr. W. BRIDAL, 27, Strand Street, Pontypridd, Mountain Ash, South Wales, Great Britain, who writes:

"It gives me great pleasure in telling you about the remarkable cure I found in Clarke's Blood Mixture for boils and pimples. After having suffered from time to time from both, and trying all kinds of so-called remedies, and being under doctor's treatment, I thought of Clarke's Blood Mixture, having tried it years ago with success for a similar complaint. After taking one bottle it seemed to drive them out, and after the second bottle I found a decided improvement, and continuing with your Mixture I can honestly say I am quite cured."

CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE, by reason of its remarkable blood purifying properties, can be relied upon to give speedy relief and lasting benefit in cases of Eczema, Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, Eruptions, Piles, Glandular Swellings, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Gout. Pleasant to take and free from anything injurious.

TAIYO MARU AND SILVER STATE LEAVING TODAY

T.K.K. Tender Leaves Jetty At 10; Admiral Liner From Lower Wharf At 4

The steamers Taiyo Maru, of the T.K.K. line, formerly the German Cap Finisterre, which arrived in Shanghai yesterday on the beginning of its second voyage in the Japanese service and the Admiral Liner Silver State, on its first Far Eastern trip, are scheduled to leave this port for Hongkong and Manila today. The tender for the Taiyo is due to leave the Customs Jetty at 10 a.m., and the Silver State is set to leave the China Merchants Lower Wharf at 4 p.m.

Among the passengers on the Taiyo Maru for Shanghai was Mr. E. R. Embree, secretary of the Rockefeller Foundation, who is going to Peking to prepare for the dedication ceremony of the medical college established there by the foundation. The formal dedication of the institution is to be held in August, when John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is expected to be present.

Other passengers for Shanghai were Mr. Frank R. Vida, the popular local business man and jockey; Mr. N. M. McKnight of the Liggett Meyers and Co., Shanghai, and family; Mr. L. L. Schnare, formerly attached to the Shanghai United States consulate general, now in the consular service in Japan, and others totalling 50.

The Rev. J. Kelman, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York City disembarked from the Taiyo at Yokohama, for a sightseeing trip in Japan, after which he will proceed to China for a visit to his daughter who is in missionary work at Peking.

Among the Taiyo's passengers for Hongkong and Manila are the Hon. C. S. Franklin, a United States Federal Judge in Honolulu, who is touring the East; Mrs. J. H. Taggart, wife of the proprietor of the Hongkong hotel; and Mr. L. R. Cofer, a vice president of the Wells-Fargo National Bank of San Francisco, who is enroute Java. Mr. Franklin was appointed a federal judge by President Wilson at the age of 27 years.

The Silver State which sails this afternoon has had a very successful voyage from the east coast of America through the canal to Seattle, and to the Far East. On the American coast runs, and on the trip New York to San Francisco, and later, San Francisco to Seattle, the vessel broke all previous records for time. Its time from New York to San Francisco was 12¾ days, 1¼ days better than the previous time. The run San Francisco to Seattle was made in 45 hours which is 1 hour 30 minutes better than the old record, established in 1910 by the old Admiral Liner, the President. The Silver State's time Seattle to Yokohama was 10 days and six hours.

Among the dozen passengers who disembarked from the liner at Yokohama were Mr. William H. Borie of New York City, a man in the oil business bound for Shanghai with his wife and child; Mr. Eli Taylor, American Vice-Consul at Shanghai.

The Silver State has a lively five-piece jazz band which has added to the pleasure of the big ship's first voyage to Japan. The orchestra is composed of Washington University men who are taking this way of making their vacation of interest and of profit.

Council Will License Gold And Silversmiths

Goldsmiths' and silversmiths' shops in the Settlement will henceforth be required to be licensed, according to announcement in this week's Municipal Gazette.

The license regulations stipulate that licensees, if members of the Guild, shall be considered entitled to benefit of prosecution by summons and not be liable to summary arrest in case of charges of receiving stolen property. This is provided the Guild shall assume responsibility for production of the accused in court. Further conditions are that the shops shall not be open for business between the hours of 10 p.m. and 7 a.m., that security shall be at the discretion of the Council and that fees shall be Tls. 5 to Tls. 25 per quarter.

FIRST OF N.Y.K.'S NEW SHIPS TO BE LAUNCHED IN FALL

Hakone Maru Due At Shanghai Dec. 5 On First Trip In European Service

The first of the three big passenger liners now under construction for the N.Y.K's European service, the Hakone Maru, is expected to be launched from the Mitsu Bishi Dockyard and Engine Works at Nagasaki about the end of October, according to announcement made yesterday at the Shanghai offices of the company.

The vessels being built for the N.Y.K. are almost of the same class as the new United States shipping board "535's." Their principal dimensions are to be length 515, breadth 62 feet, gross tonnage 10,000 tons, speed 17 knots, with accommodations for 120 first class, 56 second class, and 180 third class passengers. The equipment shall include social halls, smoking rooms, verandahs, cafe and children's rooms.

The two sister ships to the Hakone Maru are to be named the Haruna Maru and the Asama Maru. The Hakone when completed will replace the Kaga Maru, and is now provisionally scheduled to sail from Shanghai on its first voyage on December 5. The Haruna will take the run of the Inaba Maru, and the Asama will relieve the Sado Maru.

SOCONY BASEBALL CLUB STARTS MOVEMENT FOR HONG LEAGUE; PERMANENT ORGANISATION PLAN

Standard Oil Company Behind Move To Revive City Circuit Among American Firms; Association Will Not Buck Baseball Club; To Play Games Soon

A Hong baseball league, with four or six or more teams, woven into a permanent organisation, with the principal idea of providing more baseball entertainment for Shanghai fans, and promoting interest in athletics among young Americans employed in Shanghai offices, will probably be formed within the next few days.

The Standard Oil Company is behind the scheme to revive the Hong League plan of play which prevailed here two years ago. That company, with its large staff of young employes already has formed a Socony Baseball Club, with some 100 members, including twenty odd baseball players, and expect within the next day or two to get out on the field for practice.

The organisation guiding the Socony Club is composed of executive officials of the Standard Oil Company. Mr. C. W. Atkinson, general manager, is the Socony Club's president; Mr. S. H. Noxon, assistant to the company management, is the baseball vice-president; Mr. H. O. Hashagen, company attorney, is the secretary; Mr. V. G. Lyman, assistant general manager, is treasurer, and Mr. T. R. Newbery, of the operating department, is the baseball manager.

Mr. Newbery, yesterday in discussing the new Socony Club and the prospects for a permanent revival of the Hong League, said that while the idea as yet was young, the Socony Club was in the field to stay, and he was certain that other hongs would join up for the promotion of the sport, and for the permanent establishment of the league.

A general discussion on the Hong league question, is what Mr. Newbery is seeking. He is getting into communication with the American Trading Company, Anderson Meyer, the B. A. T., the Pacific Mail, The Robert Dollar Company, the Texas Company, Asia Bank and other hongs, with a view to arranging a get-together meeting of representatives so that the idea may be discussed.

Should the Hong League proposal be taken up by other companies, it will be organised into a permanent city baseball association. It is the hope of the Socony Club, even, that the league might lease playing space somewhere not too far out, and a baseball park be set up where the teams in the league can play, and where baseball fans might attend the games without being inconvenienced by journeying far from the center of the city.

Manager Newbery, of the Socony club, emphasised that his team, or the Hong League should not conflict with the activity of the Shanghai Baseball Club. The latter organisation, the premier baseball club of the city, he believes, should always have the best talent in Shanghai available to play for Shanghai. Should the Shanghai Baseball Club be matched with one of the Hong league teams, he believes that the individual players should retain the right to play with their hong team or with the city team as they elect.

The idea of the Hong League is not to take any strength from the Baseball club, but to promote baseball, to give all players an opportunity to play, and to increase an interest in athletics, a province which has been really neglected by the Baseball Club.

While the Socony Club expects to get out for practice, and perhaps to play a few games this season, it is not believed that the league can be gotten fully under way for a formal schedule until next spring. It is felt, however that now is the time to start on the business of arranging and organising the league for next spring, and for other years in the future.

Mr. Newbery would be glad to have expressions of opinion on the permanent organisation of a Shanghai City Hong League, from officials of Hongs, from baseball players, and from the fans.

SAYS "BUGS" Baer:

GINK FOWLER STILL SUPREME

Detailed Description Of How Roughtown's Champion Delivered His Famous Twin Punch

BY 'BUGS' BAER

Dear, Dear:

Was there ever a double knockout in the history of Roughtown? Please answer this and aggravate my anxiety. I haven't slept a wink in the office since I started in to think about this.

Yours on the bosses' time,
FRANK SPRUDDLE,
Hagerstown, Md.

We're glad you asked us. There was a double fadeout in Roughtown. But first we must repeat the glad news about the marvelous blow invented by the Champion of Roughtown. It revolutionised the bribing industry. No one had ever heard of a right uppercut being slung with the left fist before. Gink was lionised wherever he went. They used to shoot lions in Roughtown. And they lionised Gink.

The twin thump occurred while Gink was training loosely for the glutt who had challenged everything with hair on it, including the barber shop floor. Gink went wild when he heard this. He ran around like Noah without his ark.

Finally the Siamese twins challenged Gink. Remember the Siamese twins? They were no relation to the Pullman sisters. Remember the Pullman sisters? Bertha and Uppa? That's good.

Gink was right in the pink of condition. A sunset is pink. And Gink's sun was setting. He had to crash the Siamese twins for a row of bridges or forfeit his share of the Roughtown profit-sharing riots.

Therefore, he was out to doodle or to die. He spanked George twin on the jaw. It sounded like a pumpkin being slapped with a bed slat. George Oscar twin was still fighting and fighting strong. They were jolly little beggars. He ordered the fight to continue.

In desperation, Gink paddled Oscar twin and knocked him colder than a wet shoe. Out goes Oscar like a dry wick. The referee counted Oscar off, but by this time George twin had stopped picking at the covers and had convalesced. Gink bopped him and George goes out like a servant girl on Thursday night. But Oscar comes back.

The fight was stopped to give Gink a chance to think. He kept crashing George out and then Oscar. But he never got them both together. Finally, Gink borrowed a hat. He put both the twin's heads in the hat and then threw barrage of knuckles into them.

The hat held them together. They both went south and exited. Gink was still champion for no reason at all. He was a jolly little beggar.

90 AND 110 YD. MARKS TOPPLE; 'CENTURY' TIED

West Coast Marvel Clocked In Sensational Time In Title Meet Tryouts

Pasadena, Calif., June 18.—Charles W. Paddock broke the world's record for the 90 and 110-yard runs and tied the record for 100 yards at tryouts held here today for the National A. A. U. championship meet, according to the official timing. Paddock ran 90 yards in 8 4-5 seconds, 100 yards 9 3-5 and 110 yards in 10 1-5.

The accepted records for the distances are 9 1-5, 9 3-5 and 10 4-5 seconds, respectively. The tryouts were held under the supervision of Robert S. Weaver, A. A. U. president.

Paddock's time for the three distances was caught in the 110-yard dash, tapes being stretched at 90 and 100 yards as well as the finish.

The previous marks for 90 and 110 yards do not appear in the official record book, the nearest being 100 meters, which is equivalent to 109.36 yards. Don Lippincott, of the University of Pennsylvania, is accredited this record, having run the distance in 10:06 at the Olympic games in 1912.

Paddock's time of 9 3-5 for 100 yards equals the record jointly held by himself and Howard Drew.

15th Infantry Beats Cavalry By Score Of 2-1 At Tientsin; Diamonds Defeat Civvies, 3-1

Manila Team Is Beaten In Pitchers' Battle; Osaka Japanese Come From Behind And Win In 10 Innings From Civilians

The Ninth Cavalry baseball team, which will begin a series with the Shanghai Baseball club on or about August 9, was defeated by the 15th Infantry nine in the sixth game of the Tientsin baseball tournament. The score was 2-1. The second half of the afternoon's card gave a victory to the Osaka Diamond nine over the Tientsin Civilians after ten innings of play, by the score of 3-1.

The Cavalry-Infantry game was a pitchers' battle, with Scott and Hutchinson working for their respective teams. The Diamond-Civvies game went into the ninth inning with the Tientsin boys leading by a 3-0 score, when a double and a single tied things up. In the 10th Suzuki took first on an error, and scored on Kusaka's triple. The latter scored the third run on Maloney's fumble of the throw to catch him at the plate.

AUSTRALIA TO MEET BRITISH IN DAVIS CUP PLAY

After Taking Two Singles Matches, Australia Beats Canada In Doubles

(Reuter's Service)

Toronto, July 26.—Australia, who had previously won two singles matches in their tie against Canada in connection with the Davis Cup lawn tennis contest, today won the doubles event, the score being 6-2, 6-3. Australia thus gains the right to meet the British team at Pittsburgh.

A PAINFUL ENEMY

Rheumatism is a Blood-poison

Until not long ago, doctors as well as patients thought rheumatism was due to damp and cold. You need fear neither of these if you are not carrying rheumatism poison about with you in your blood. It is an acid which only finds its way into impoverished blood, and is the worst enemy you can have.

This acid in the blood has an irritating effect, almost like vinegar dropped into a wound. The blood carries it to the muscles, and their tender surfaces are tormented by it, especially during changeable weather, making the sufferer think that damp is the cause. It is only part of the cause. Sometimes the acid concentrates in the joints and we grow stiff. The first sign is cracking sounds in the joints.

But it can all be cured, for Dr. Williams' pink pills, by improving the quality of the blood, enable the system to throw off the rheumatic poison. Enriching and purifying the blood as they do, Dr. Williams' pink pills have proved successful in thousands of cases of rheumatism, even in its worst stages, and they have been equally helpful as a remedy for sciatica, lumbago and neuralgia.

If you are troubled with any form of ill-health due to impure or debilitated blood now is the time to begin Dr. Williams' pink pills for pale people. Get a supply from your dealer, or direct from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai, price $1.50 per bottle, $8 for 6 bottles, post free. For men and women too.

AUSTRALIANS AND ENGLISH DRAW IN FOURTH TEST MATCH; HOME TEAM DECLARES AT 362

Parkin Takes Five Wickets For 38; Australians Score But 175; Crowd Of 12,000 Sees Play; Results In County Matches

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 26.—The fourth test match at Manchester ended today in a draw, as was only to be expected in view of the fact that play was confined to two days. For once the conditions favored the home side, who maintained today the upper hand over their opponents.

Tennyson declared the English innings closed at the overnight total of 362 for four wickets. The Australians thereupon opened their first innings on a wicket not really difficult, though the ground was somewhat soft after rain which fell overnight.

Nevertheless, scoring was extremely slow throughout the Australian innings. The batsmen adopted purely defensive tactics, and took five hours and 20 minutes to compile 175 runs.

The English bowling was distinctly good, and was frequently changed. Parkin was the most effective trundler, taking five wickets at a cost of 38 runs.

Collins, who opened the innings with Bardsley, stayed in until half an hour before it closed. His dogged display, however, only yielded 40 runs, and this was the top score.

The Australian innings having closed, as stated, for 175, England had 40 minutes' batting before stumps were drawn, in which they hit up 44 for the loss of one wicket.

Australia.—First Innings.

At Birmingham. — Warwickshire beat Lancashire by two wickets.

At Northampton.—Northamptonshire beat Glamorganshire by 244.

At Southend.—Somerset beat Essex by 65.

SAVE CHILDREN FUND IS BETTER THAN DIPLOMATS

Does More To Counteract Bitterness Of War; U. S. Contributions Total $29,000,000

(Reuter's Service)

New York, July 26.—A total of $29,000,000 had been collected in the United States up to May 1 for the relief of children in Europe. Of this total all except $2,000,000 has been distributed.

London, July 26.—The annual meeting of the council of the "Save the Children Fund" was held in London today. Lord Weardale, who presided, said that £552,735 had been received in the past year.

There were 170,000 direct subscribers, in addition to thousands of anonymous helpers. The Fund, by counteracting international bitterness, was working better for the future of Europe than all its statesmen, he contended.

The report showed that the receipts of the fund for the past two years amounted to £950,000. A Home fund had been established, as distinct from the foreign fund. Additional relief had been granted in Central Europe, and grants had been made to Armenian and Russian refugee orphans, as well as to the child sufferers from the famine in China, and the Russian and Turkish children who were suffering from the concentration of refugees in Constantinople.

Tsingtao School Ends First Year

(Staff Correspondence)

Tsingtao, July 22.—Exercises marking the close of the first school year at Tsingtao Academy took place this afternoon, the guests including General Yui, Governor Akiyama, and many foreign residents of the city. No diplomas were awarded, as the highest class in the preparatory school is not ready for graduation.

After a morning program consisting of drill, inspection, and track contest the afternoon events opened with a tennis tournament and basketball game between two of the school teams. The indoor program consisted of a musicale by the student body and members of the faculty, during which Mr. Charles Glauque of Shanghai sang several numbers; the annual report of the president, Dr. Arthur F. Torrance; the annual report of the trustees, given by Captain William Bull; and the presentation of prizes to the students by Mrs. Bull.,

In the course of his address Dr. Torrance outlined some of the difficulties which accompanied the founding of the school a year ago. Delay in the securing of a necessary permit from the Japanese government resulted in the loss of several appointees to the staff, who sought other positions, and the hasty assembling of a faculty when the grant was finally issued. Some of the staff proved unsatisfactory, Dr. Torrance stated, but those at present with the school have given proof of their loyalty to the institution and their value as instructors. At the conclusion of the program, tea was served by the members of the faculty.

Cups were awarded to the following students: Honor cup, George Gorbatenke; scholarship, Nathan Concoff; athletics, Felix Hervatt; department, William Rhimer, Felix Hervatt, Morris Vederoff, and Boris Ivanoff.

PARTISANS CUT WIRES; WRECK SIBERIA BRIDGE

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Vladivostok, July 27.—Partisans have damaged a railway bridge between Okeansk and 26th verst, interrupting traffic for a few hours. The telegraphic communications with Nikolsk-Ussurisk were also cut.

Vladivostok, July 27.—The professional unions threaten a general strike on economic grounds, but the workmen are disunited, and the strike hangs fire.

Vladivostok, July 27.—The second sitting of the Popular Assembly was held yesterday when 49 delegates were present. General Boldireff was elected Vice-President.

Senior Consul Raps Attitude Taken By Street Unions Here

Criticises Influence In Recent Rice Crisis; 320 Licenses Issued

Some 320 rice shops in the International Settlement have already received their licenses under the new Municipal licensing regulation, according to announcement in today's Municipal Gazette. This is almost the total number of such establishments to be licensed.

The Gazette also published further correspondence occurring before the final settlement of the rice crisis. The gist of this has previously been reported but an interesting paragraph occurs in a letter directed by the Senior Consul to the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs in which he criticises strongly the influence and attitude of the Street Unions. The paragraph reads:

"The influence of the Street Unions has, ever since they were formed, been directed to hamper the Council in the administration of the Settlement; their interference in this matter is intolerable and in the opinion of the Consular Body justifies the Council in refusing any concession until their conditions have been complied with."

The conditions referred to were the reopening of the shops, pending further negotiation.

JAPAN DOCKYARD STRIKE IS ENDING

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Kobe, July 27.—The strike at the Kawasaki dockyard is apparently breaking down.

On Monday, when the yard opened, only 2,000 out of a total of 17,000 employes returned, but yesterday there were more than 4,000 working.

The police who have drawn a cordon around the yard, are arresting many who are attempting to intimidate returning strikers.

The whole of Kobe and Osaka are flooded with strikers who have turned peddlars with a view to raising funds for the continuation of the strike. No disorders are reported.

Conseil D'Administration Municipale De La Concession Francaise de Changhai

MUNICIPAL LOAN OF 1921

(20,000 debentures of Tls. 100 each).

Rate of interest 8% per annum

The "Conseil d'Administration Municipale de la Concession Francaise de Changhai" hereby invite subscriptions for 20,000 debentures of Tls. 100 each, according to the resolution passed at their General Meeting on May 30, 1921.

The conditions on which the Debenture Certificates will be issued are:—

1°—The Debenture Certificates are transferable, and the person whose name is entered in the Register of Debenture Certificate or Certificates, shall alone be recognised and treated by the Council as the lawful and rightful holder and owner of such Debenture Certificate or Certificates.

2°—The loan will be redeemable at par (Tls. 100) in not less than 10 years and not more than 30 years, from 1st July, 1931 and according to the figures determinated by the Council.

3°—The loan will bear interest at 8% per annum, payable on the 30th day of June and 31st of December in each year, when interest warrants will be issued to the registered owners.

4°—The property and income of the Municipality, deducting those which serve as security provided in the Municipal Loans of 1903, 1911, 1914 and 1916 are the security for the repayment of the money advanced and for the interest thereon in the present loan.

The Members of the French Municipal Council are not personally liable in any way for the payment of either principal or interests.

5°—Applications for debentures will be received at the Secretary's Office, Rue du Consulat.

A cheque representing the amount of debentures asked for must be deposited at the same time.

Shanghai, 1st July, 1921.

P. LEGENDRE,
Secretary.

KINGMAN & BROS.
How to Preserve the Teeth

In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth, some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr. KINGMAN to the subscribers consists in:—

(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly

MUKDEN TRADE ALSO DEPRESSED

According to the report of Customs Commissioner L. Sandercock, in the earlier months of the year it seemed that the 1919 record of prosperity in Mukden would be maintained during 1920; but in due course the effects of the general wave of trade depression wore felt locally, and, although no business failures on a large scale are reported, a general slump in local trade occurred, due in a large measure to the rise in the value of the Japanese gold yen and to the stagnation of the export trade. Chinese firms dealing in Japanese miscellaneous goods have been heavy losers, goods ordered wholesale on credit at the lower silver figure of a year ago having to be paid for at the current higher rates. Exchange between Fengtien small-coin dollars (the usual currency for local business transactions) and gold yen was Small-coin $56.20 = Gold Yen 100 in January; but near the end of the year it was Small-coin $146.50 = Gold Yen 100.

After a severe winter the prolonged drought in the spring and early summer seriously damaged crops in the districts round Mukden. There was considerable anxiety in the early summer, thousands of farmers coming to the city to offer prayers for rain at the Dragon Temple. Later there fell abundance of rain, with the result that, excepting those crops which ripen early, the yield in general was a fair one, of about 70 percent. Reports on the year's crops from 56 hsien were as follows:—spring crops: good, nil; average, in 12 hsien; poor, in 23 hsien; and nil, in 21 hsien; autumn crops: good, in four hsien; average, in 17 hsien; and poor, in 35 hsien.

The crops of indigo, hemp, and tobacco were up to the average, but the wild cocoons in the Fenghwangcheng district suffered seriously. The demand for furs and skins for export to the United States of America and elsewhere was as brisk as in 1919—exceptionally so during the first three months of the year—and prices continued high. The Japanese post office continued to be the chief channel for export abroad of skins of the smaller varieties.

As an indication of the growing importance of Mukden as a center of the skin trade, it may be mentioned that a foreign firm has placed an order for a press-packing plant, in order to be able to deal locally with skins of the heavier type for export abroad. The depreciation and fluctuation of the local small-coin dollar notes continue to be great obstacles to trade.

There was much military activity during the year, troops being despatched to the metropolitan district to the assistance of the Chihli party during the political upheaval of July, and again later in the year to the Hunchun district, in Kirin, in connexion with the disturbances there. Martial law was proclaimed at Mukden in July and August; the main streets continue to be patrolled after sundown by armed parties of soldiery, and traffic is suspended each evening at 11 p.m. Some tens of thousands of famine refugees from districts in North China have been brought by rail to Mukden since the beginning of September; large parties of them have been despatched to Kirin and Heilungkiang provinces for agricultural work. The students of the local schools made political demonstrations during December in connexion with the settlement of the Hunchun affair.

Plans have been made for the establishment of a local cotton mill, with a capital of $2,500,000, subscribed partly from official funds and partly by private individuals. The site selected is situated to the west of the Pao Ling Ssu, outside the small west gate of the mud wall; plant has been ordered, and it is expected that construction work will commence in the spring of 1921. According to a police census taken in 1920, the Chinese population of Mukden is 35,036 households and 219,756 persons.

There was considerable building activity in the Japanese railway zone during 1920, but at the end of the year it is reported that there are some 300 houses vacant. In the Foreign Settlement new houses have been built by the Standard Oil Company, the Banque Industrielle de Chine, and the British-American Tobacco Company, while many new buildings were left uncompleted at the beginning of the winter. In the city several of the larger Chinese business houses have built new premises in foreign style, including the Bank of Communications.

On December 1 a long-distance Japanese telephone service between Mukden and Antung was inaugurated. Railway extension of the Ssu-Chong Railway in the following directions has been planned; from Chengkiatun westward to Tungliaohsien, a distance of about 80 miles, and a further extension from Tungliaohsien in a north-westerly direction to Taonanfu, a distance of some 170 miles.

A Sino-Japanese Company has been formed for agricultural development in the neighborhood of Chengkiatun and Tungliaohsien. The results of the experiment made by the Toa Tobacco Company in cultivating foreign tobacco in the neighborhood of Fenghwangcheng have not come up to expectations, owing to lack of experience on the part of the farmers and to unfavorable climatic conditions.

By the courtesy of the Japanese Meteorological Office, Commissioner L. Sandercock is enabled to record the following official observations during 1920: rainfall, 417.1 mm. (below average by 229.2 mm.); maximum temperature, 39.3° C. (30th June); minimum temperature, —32.7° C. (10th February).

The Chinese Consortium And Foreign Audit

THE Ministry of Finance is turning again for succour to the Chinese Consortium, which nursed it over the last year's crisis. A Chinese mental habit of both good and bad fruitage is the confusing of desire with assurance of accomplishment. It is this which gives rise to the premature announcement of elaborate programs described as if well on the way to consummation. In accordance with this trait, reports have emanated from the Peking Government to the effect that the Acting Minister of Finance, and Chinese head of the Salt Gabelle, Pan Fu, is achieving success in his negotiation with the Chinese banks for a thirty million dollar loan. The loan, owing to terms required, which the government cannot give assurance of its ability to fill, is still merely prospective.

The significant thing about the terms upon which Chinese bankers are willing to lend money is that they demand as security a revenue guaranteed by foreign supervision and audit. The previous loans of their group have been made upon the security of revenues placed either directly under their control or already under the control of foreigners. They now ask that the return of any further contribution to the upkeep of Chin Yun-peng, Chang Tso-lin, Tsao Kun and company be pledged from the salt, customs, and post-office receipts, all of which are "foreigner" administered and audited.

Thus the Chinese banks are emphasising the necessity of the very thing which they opposed in the Foreign Consortium—financial and audit supervision.

They are willing to utilise, and are to that extent endorsing, the thing which inspired, by way of protest, the formation of their own Consortium.

They are not delicate with regard to outside hold upon the pursestrings of the treasury. What they desire is the holding of those strings by themselves, not the foreigner. At New Year's time and once since they made loans upon revenues unconnected with the foreigner—revenues which they thereby took under their control. They have come to realise, however, that the continuation of this process would involve an organisation, personnel and prestige with which they are not equipped, and they have resorted to the alternative of asking the Minister of the Treasury for revenue securities already well controlled and audited—under foreigners.

What lies in the way of loan consummation upon these terms is the knowledge that these revenues are already so burdened that there is danger that they can carry no more loans, and the fear that even these revenues, which heretofore have been sacrosanct because of their foreign administration, are beginning to suffer from the interference of military chiefs. The increasing disrespect of the warlords for the customs and salt receipts, which formerly they did not dare to detain, is but one aspect of the entire problem of the growing disregard for foreign prestige and rights throughout the country. If, however, Chang Tso-lin should cease confiscating customs and salt collections in Manchuria, it would be much easier for the Ministry of Finance to obtain advances from the Chinese banks and for Chang Tso-lin in turn to requisition them from the Ministry.

GO TO FATHER

I asked her to wed
And she answered and said:
"Go to father!"
And she knew that I knew
Her father was dead,
And she knew that I knew
The life he had led
And she knew that I knew
What she meant when she said:
"Go to Father!"

A GOOD SOUND SLEEP

"Your wusshup," said the poor complaining husband, "I ask your protection, and the protection of the law you so wisely dispense——" Interval, whilst the judge stood up and bowed at the compliment which had been paid him.

When order was restored, the plaintiff continued:

"When I was young and foolish I took to myself a wife—that's it, in a rag and a muff and a bob of hair sitting opposite your worship But she was good and kind to me in those days, but once she had got me, she made my life a misery."

"Ah," said the great judge. "I see that you love her!" (Judges always joke, that's why they wear a white wig to keep their head warm and keep the jokes bubbling about inside their heads.) "Why do you sing her praises to me?"

"Every night she drives me out to the seashore and rocks me to sleep," explained the husband.

"Well," returned the judge, "these are very warm nights. You should not mind sleeping out of doors on hot nights like these, and it is very kind of your wife to rock you to sleep."

"But, your wusshup, you should see the rocks she uses."

(A correspondent has evidently been on the lookout for a house, and is now despondent. To calm his troubled mind he has sought relief in verse. The verse may be difficult to scan, but not nearly as difficult as to get a house.)

Six roomed house (four large and two small)
Not including the bathroom and hall,
Kitchen, pantry, verandah and all,
The only thing that sounds pretty tall is:—
TAKE OVER THE FURNITURE!

And then again at a glance you will see
A house from the Western District—ah me!
A lease on this excellent holding will be Handed over to the lucky bargee—who can:—

France Takes Her Stand On Upper Silesia, Cries Briand

BY ARISTIDE BRIAND
(Premier of France)

REGRETTABLE occurrences took place in Upper Silesia during the time that the Allies were meeting at the London Conference. Reports quickly spread among the Polish workmen of Upper Silesia that the Allies had decided in the course of the Supreme Council meetings to give Germany the entire industrial and mining territory of Upper Silesia, notwithstanding the results of the plebiscite. These reports excited anger and indignation amongst the miners of Upper Silesia.

After various incidents, encounters took place between the French and Italian troops and the Polish insurgents, and there were a number of killed and wounded, which shows that the Allied police forces fulfilled their duty. The Polish Government immediately dissociated itself from the insurgents, and closed the frontier to prevent Polish troops from entering the disturbed area.

"PROTECTED GERMAN LIVES"

The French Government, in view of these facts, vigorously protests against the tendencious and false reports which tend to represent it as having failed in its duty. On the contrary, it fulfilled it, and in particularly difficult circumstances.

With only 12,000 troops against several hundred thousand insurgents, it nevertheless protected German lives and property. When all the documents regarding the matter are published, it will be seen clearly that it has accomplished its task as well as possible.

There has been much conversation about the attitude of the Allies toward each other in this matter. France takes her stand here, as elsewhere, by the Treaty of Versailles, and it is her desire to do so always.

The Treaty does not say that different treatment should be applied to any region according to the presence or absence of coal. It does not say that the views of the workingmen are of less importance than those of the great German industrialists.

THREE ALLIES DIFFERED

There is a Polish majority in the mining districts, and the workingmen there gave expression to the view that this territory ought to be restored to Poland. The Commission should trace the frontier in accordance with the plebiscite decision, but at the same time take into account ethnological and economical considerations.

It is on these conditions and on this basis that the French Government instructed its delegates to act. The Italian delegate had different views, while the standpoint of the British delegate was again different.

In short, there was not an agreement between the representatives of the three Great Powers on the High Commission. If the Powers had had time they would certainly have arrived at a common proposal in accordance with the views of the inhabitants. Unfortunately any attempt was made to precipitate affairs in the hope that everything would be settled in London. That was the cause of all the difficulties.

I am hopeful that these difficulties will be settled calmly. In fact, there was soon an improvement in this respect. Work was resumed, violence and disorders ceased, and the time will come when the Commission will be able calmly to adopt a just solution in conformity with the treaty. Such is the situation so far as Poland is concerned,

OPPOSES GERMAN VIEW

But I must also look at it from the German point of view. There are German bands. French officers, including a General, were hustled, insulted even arrested. That could not be tolerated either. Order had to be imposed by the Allies upon Germans as well as upon Poles.

On the German side attempts were made to precipitate the situation. It has been insinuated that Germany can very well interfere in her turn in events in Upper Silesia.

Germany would be entirely in the wrong, and she would provoke very serious results. France could not remain disinterested with regard to this point, and not a single one of the Allies would authorise the entry of German troops into Upper Silesia.

It has been said that Upper Silesia has not always been Polish. That did not prevent the Allies from including among their war aims that of the resuscitation of Poland, and this result ought to be obtained in its full measure. After eight months of discusson at the Peace Conference the Allies decided to give Upper Silesia to Poland, and it was only in response to the observation made by the German delegation that the Council of Four reversed its decision and decided that the will of the inhabitants should be ascertained by a plebiscite.

LARGE MAJORITY ARE POLES

The first idea of the Allies was thus to give Upper Silesia to Poland, and without doubt this gave rise to hopes that, perhaps, were exaggerated among the Poles. That is not surprising. Moreover, the most recent German atlases indicate that the majority of the inhabitants of Upper Silesia are Poles.

The recent polemics on the subject of Upper Silesia were annoying, because they tended to create the impression in Germany that the Allies were divided and thus were likely to lead her into dangerous paths. In my opinion the best thing to do would be to leave the three French, British and Italian Commissioners at Oppeln to try and find a common proposition to lay before the Supreme Council regarding the final delimitation of the frontier of Upper Silesia.

Mr. Lloyd George interpreted the situation from his own point of view. We are two free countries, two great countries who talk frankly to each other like man to man. It is not for either of us to give orders to the other.

The British Prime Minister could not take the initiative alone in authorising German troops to advance into Upper Silesia. There was, moreover, no such suggestion in his recent speech. Mr. Lloyd George's thesis was that it was not for Poland herself to see that justice was done. That is a just principle, and I approve it absolutely, but it must also apply to Germany as well as to Poland.

ACCUSES MINE OWNERS

France has made too many efforts to ensure peace for her to be disturbed by the claims of a number of German mine-owners. The Allies must make justice prevail above these selfish interests.

Indiscretions were committed. Germany was allowed to understand that if she agreed to the Allied ultimatum she would derive certain advantages. The Poles became alarmed.

Upper Silesia, moreover, has nothing to do with the question of reparations. The Treaty, in effect, provides that for fifteen years the deliveries of coal to be made by Germany shall be as great as before the war, even if Upper Silesia be taken from her.

I am convinced that if Poland were definitely assured that the figures recorded in the plebiscite would be taken into consideration on the basis of communes, calm would once more be restored. It on the other hand Poland thinks that the Allied Powers wish to use Upper Silesia as a quid pro quo for their private purposes then she will revolt.

RICSHA FARES

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir: I have been trying to discover some tariff system applicable to the fares due ricsha coolies, and am told that the only set price is twenty-five cents an hour.

It stands to reason that the coolies should receive more during the hot weather, when the pavements are blistering to the feet, and the heaviness makes the slightest movement an effort. But the coolies are never satisfied, and exhibit pained surprise when paid what seems a liberal fare.

While having all sympathy for the poor fellows I find that it is impossible to give all they ask, and still remain on the credit side of the books. Is there a zone system understood, such as fifteen cents from The Bund to the Racecourse, and ten cents to points within that radius?

I believe Hongkong has a rate system which permits of no doubt as to the amount due for ricsha service. Is anything so modern ever to be established in Shanghai? Yours,

Pierre Corneau.

WHY THIS NOISE?

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir: I am not a nervous wreck, a maniac for quietness, nor a victim of shell shock.

But I have ears, unfortunately, and a normal person's objection's to the hideous and ceaseless unnecessary noises which make Shanghai a Bedlam among cities.

Why are Shanghai tramcars so ncisy? All day long I hear the razzle-dazzle, hitchy thump and clatter of the huge Juggernauts rounding the curve by my office. The wheels protest to the rails, the chains clank and whine, the couplings jolt and jiggle.....the whole rolling stock seems on the point of breaking down through internal strain and external friction.

At night I am blessed by another set of the groaning monsters outside my window in the residence section. Sleep is illusive these hot nights, but the howling tramcars make it impossible until long after midnight.

Is there such a thing as a tramcar silencer?

Yours,
"Sleepless."

Quincy Todd On Lazy Husbands -:- By Roy K. Moulton

My disreputable friend Quincy Todd is not by way of being what you will call a lazy man, although he seems to get by with about the most minimum amount of labor that has ever been observed in our suburb. But, for all that, in one way or another, he has managed to pile up a considerable number of toadskins, which is by way of saying kale. He is a great advocate of hard work, which he says it is harder work to get four aces sometimes than it is to dig a half a mile of sewer excavation, and it is harder work to make a pair of fishhooks stand up against a pat hand than it is to build a locomotive.

"I see," says Quincy, "that a lot of people are getting quite a bit smoked up lately about lazy husbands and how a judge has got up nine commandments for one of them which he will enforce on all the others who come under his notice. According to these rules and regulations the lazy and nagging husband has got to take the old lady a box of candy every week and he has got to get up and get breakfast and is allowed only one night out per week and, in other words, he has all the freedom of the Aquarium sea lion.

"When a bird goes home after a tiresome day dodging work and pops it off to the wife that housekeeping is a cinch and that she has nothing to do, that her flapjacks are tough and that he could do all the housekeeping with one hand and run a motorcycle with the other the court gives him a chance to make good. However, I will say that if the average husband has to get breakfast every morning the old lady will soon be in such a condition from eating these breakfasts that her trouble will be over for all time. After a husband gets through getting breakfast it is time to notify the coroner and order the flowers."

"And he has got to wash the dishes," interrupted Elias Q. Higginbotham.

"Did you ever see a dish that a husband has washed?" asked Quincy. "When he gets through washing it the wife has to wash it again. When she goes away for the Summer there are only two ways Friend Husband washes the dishes. He either piles them up in the back yard and turns the hose on them or sets them out on the fire escape and prays for rain.

"But a great many of the fair sex get the bee put on them when they think they are getting a meal ticket, which I have noticed more than once. A lot of birds are good workers while they are single, but develop the sleeping sickness as soon as they hook up to some dame for life. When he is single he spends all his dough on himself and he figgers he is getting some good out of it. But here and there a guy gets stung just as bad. Many a guy picks out a strong lookin' woman who is fond of work and is a good cook and makes her own clothes, but she forgets everything she knows as soon as she is married. She is as helpless as a one-armed trap-drummer in a jazz orchestra, but who can blame her?

"Which reminds me of a bird in my home town by the name of Fatty Spink, he being called Fatty because he is what might be regarded as plump, and he is perhaps the laziest guy in our village except the town marshal, which is generally the case.

"This Fatty is so lazy that he comes pretty near starving to death one time and is in bed upstairs in his room when a kind-hearted farmer drives up with a couple of bushel of corn and he yells:

"Hi, Fatty. Do you want a couple of bushel of corn I have brought you?"

"Is it shucked?" wheezed Fatty, he being very weak at the time.

"Then drive on," wheezes Fatty.

"Well, it seems that a new manicure comes to our town which is a very beautiful manicure at that and all the young blokes around our burg become very bloocy over this dame. It seems she makes all her own clothes, which are the zippiest clothing in our town, and she is an excellent cook, as all her young lady friends say, and she gets up parties for the girls and cooks a lot of plain and fancy chuck which is much appreciated.

"She makes quite a bit of dinero in her business, also as pretty near everybody from the bald-headed deacons down to the young society lounge lizards go in there to get trimmed, which she does very neat, getting one smack per throw. Some of these birds get trimmed twice a day.

"Fatty gets an eye on this vision, but he is not in the manicuring line, because he has no more money than a Mesopotamian refugee. He sizes this matter all up and he figgers that he ought to marry this young person and live happy ever after, but the only way he can get a knock-down to her is to go to work, which is a very painful conclusion, but he figgers it will be only for a little while, for after he wins her she will make a good living for him, which is a noble way of looking at it, to say the least.

"So he rounds up quite a job at that, as he is quite a smart bird while he stays awake, and he gets to having his nails manicured about six times a week and puts up a lot of loud talk about his prospects. He figgers his prospects will be purty good if he can only get her. He takes her to the movies and finally pops and, as she has him doped out as quite an intelligent person, which he is, and she finally accepts him to the surprise of everybody and they get spliced.

"As soon as they get married Lutie says:

"'I am giving up the manicuring parlor now.'

"'How so?' asks Fatty, turning very cold in the gizzard.

"'Well,' she says, 'I have worked all my life and I am tired of working and you are making so much dough I don't have to, and then, my business is ruined now anyhow, as nobody will get manicured by a married dame while they are in their right senses. They don't think they are getting a sincere manicure if the girl ain't single. And I also have been supporting my father and mother and I will have them come and live with us.

"Fatty is very groggy by this time, but he manages to wheeze: 'Well, you are a good cook anyhow and you can make your own clothes, which will help some,' and she says:

"'What? With a great big wonderful husband like you have said you are? No, indeed. I must have a maid and a dressmaker the first thing. I haven't got a thing to wear.'

"Now, if she is some kinds of a woman she would go to a justice of the peace and get him to lay down some rules for Fatty, but she ain't that kind of a dame. She lays 'em down herself and, believe me, they stick. This poor prune has to go to work in earnest. When he goes home at night he meets himself going back to the mill.

"In the course of ten years he gets to be quite a fellow, much to the surprise of everybody, and is by way of becoming a very rich sort of a guy.

"But Fatty, in his moments of reflection, always figgers that he gets stung when he marries this gal, which is the way it goes. He is figgering on sliding through life like a giant sloth and she turns him into an ant. Which any guy who marries a manicure marries a very wise person at that."

"If this here judge gets all the lazy husbands in the country to washing dishes, cooking breakfast, taking care of the kids and doing the washboard shimmy," said Elias Q. Higginbotham, "it will be what I will call a heck of a free country."

"It is anyhow," added Quincy.

Japanese Part In Opium Traffic In Shantung Is Told

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, July 23.—Japanese methods of handling the shipments of opium and its derivatives in China, forms the principal part of today's report of the Shantung investigation by your correspondent. The method is ingenious, is free from any interference by the Chinese and is efficient in the extreme.

The narcotics are merely shipped to interior points where guards and soldiers are stationed and the boxes are labeled "Military Supplies."

It is well known that the Japanese are quite free from addiction to the drug habit and that the Japanese command would never under any circumstances permit the drug to be used by soldiers.

The investigators found that the supplies do not remain long in the hands of the Japanese soldiers. They are sent out to the distributing station, to Japanese drug stores and hospitals.

The Germans during their occupation of Shantung were especially careful regarding the handling of opium and there was a special commission that looked after the traffic to see that the laws were complied with.

OPIUM SALE GAINS

After the Japanese entered Shantung the sale of opium began to increase. The Japanese guards had control of the railroads and little could be done. The dealers in the cities were watched closely however and many of them were arrested and their places were closed.

After the places were closed, those addicted to drugs had to have their supplies, and according to the investigators, they were told that it could be supplied at Japanese drug stores or could be purchased from the hospitals. Seemingly the whole thing was ethical but it was worked much as it has been in New York. Japanese physicians examined the applicants, found they were addicts and gave them certificates permitting them to purchase morphia. The made in Japan morphia was not limited in the certificate and the addicts often engaged in peddling it.

Customs officials in the interior have found many instances of smuggling carried on by persons who obtained the opium and morphia indirectly from the military. Nothing can stop it before it is sent out from the barracks and after that it is too late.

Organisation of the railroad and special military guards makes it easy to get the opium into the interior. The guards in small companies, each usually commanded by about 13 officers, are stationed at all points on the railway where there is any considerable settlement.

8 GUARD COMPANIES

There are eight companies of guards between Tsingtau and Tsinanfu and smaller detachments of these move from place to place as they are needed.

At Tsingtau there is always one of the four army detachments of railway guards, usually numbering about 600 men. These are in addition to the regular defense troops and the navy forces. While the navy forces were supposed to have been withdrawn, Peking has not been notified of it and the investigators were told that there is a strong force of fighting ships and a considerable land force at Tsingtau.

In addition to the Japanese guards there are about 250 Chinese police in the employ of the Japanese. Arrests however are not always made in a high handed manner and the police cases are frequently handled by the Japanese military officers in conjunction with the Chinese officials.
